WASHINGTON Oct. 21.—President Hoover's committee on unemployment got down to work today to outline its procedure in meeting the present crisis.

Exclusively a governmental group the committee under the chairmanship of Secretary of Commerce Lammont aims to guide the Federal and State governments, and national industry, in measures to speed public and private construction programs to give winter employment.

Other members of the committee are Secretaries Mellon, Hurley, Wilbur, Hyde and Davis, and Eugene Meyer, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

Need Co-Operation
While officials indicated the committee would not resemble the Harding conference on unemployment of 1921, but its basic procedure will be similar.

State co-operation will first be sought as was done in the drought crisis. Industry and national scope will be called upon to do its part in stimulating expansion programs. Industry will be asked to find means

Scientists Await Eclipse Of Sun On South Seas Island

Commander Keppler And Party Of Scientists To Snap Eclipse

Trinkets And Lollypops Given Natives To Secure Cooperation

NIAU OU (TIN CAN) ISLAND, SOUTH SEAS, Oct. 21.—With their delicate instruments and huge cameras in place, scientists awaited the eclipse of the sun today on this small tropical island.

The weather here for the past few days has been practically cloudless, and the various parties were hopeful that they would get an unobstructed view of the eclipse.

For the first time perhaps in the long history of solar eclipse observation, scientists today with the assistance of all-day suckers and gaudy trinkets trained their giant cameras on the sun during a total eclipse.

The lolly pops and trinkets were an important part of the baggage of the United States expedition to Tin Can Island in the South Seas. They were designed to secure the cooperation of the natives of the island and they worked.

Keppler Is Leader
The United States expedition, headed by commander C. H. J. Keppler, U. S. N., carried 400 odd pieces of baggage including a 65 foot camera.

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 21.—Every man has his own way of telling how bad business is. The head waiter at the big Del Monte Hotel was telling me of a big banquet held there the night before by a well known organization, and he lamented: "It wasn't nothing like the years before. Why, we cleaned up after 'em in less than an hour this morning."

That means times are so hard they are carrying their empty bottles home with 'em, but there was a real barometer of business.

Some king is being crowned in Africa, and every other king sent sympathy, and even presidents wired him that "being the head man nowadays is over-rated."

Boston Raising $3,000,000—Other Cities Are Joining Movement

(International News Service)

The first icy breath of winter, which during the past week has sent additional thousands of jobless men into the bread-lines and soup-houses of the larger cities, resulted today in a concerted national campaign to provide employment and relief for the sufferers.

While a committee of President Hoover's cabinet met in Washington to prepare a program for speeding up the government's half a billion dollar building program, the municipal councils in many large cities were adopting emergency measures to cope with the situation.

For the most part, it appeared, these measures will have to do with increasing and accelerating public works, cutting through red tape, and the inevitable legal delays, to the end that immediate work may be offered to the jobless.

Provide Work
"Provide work" seemed to be the national slogan, radiating downward from the federal government, through the state governments, and into the various municipalities.

In New York, a fund of more than $5,000,000 was being raised to provide opportunity and relief. In Boston, the city council visited Gov. Allen to discuss the situation, after recommending appropriation of $1,000,000 by the city and $2,000,000 by special subscription to get things started.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Young Pa Newc saw an unusual sight in one of the railroad freight stations. While he was passing he noticed a car full of snow. Where the car came from is a puzzle to the writer.

Raking leaves and carting them off the lawn seems to be the favorite pastime in this city at the present time. The street department is also somewhat extensively engaged in hauling leaves from the streets at the present time.

We See At A Glance:
That state-erected snow fences out along the highways may be of some use before very long, if the weather keeps on changing. They're being placed now.

That nuts out in the woods aren't as plentiful this year as some had expected them to be.

That creeks here are a bit higher today than anytime during the past few weeks.

That some of the lawns around the city that were kept mighty attractive during the summer are being kept just as neat looking now, in spite of the heavy fall of leaves.

That the George Washington junior high school athletic field is one of the best developed athletic grounds in the district. Football, baseball, tennis, outdoor volleyball and other sports have been provided for.

A curious thing at the public library children's department is an Indian war club made from a discarded Christmas tree by Robert Brown, Scout of Elks Troop No. 5. The war club has been at the library for many months but always attracts attention. It shows a snake, bear, scalp, sun, cross, wampum beads and the points of the compass.

If you would like to hear a real worth while and interesting address, go to the Y. W. C. A. at 3:30 Wednesday. Miss Ethel Bird, national secretary of the Y. W. C. A. will speak on social work and immigration laws and it will most assuredly be great.

IVOR DAVIS TO HEAD HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION

Named As General Chairman Of Last Night Of October Fete

Parade To Take Place Early Because Of Football Game

Announcement was made today by A. W. Chilton of the Chamber of Commerce, that Ivor Davis, world war veteran and well known business man, had accepted the general chairmanship of the annual Halloween celebration, which will be held in the downtown business district of the city on Friday evening, October 31.

Since accepting the chairmanship, Mr. Davis has been gathering to his aid numerous men and women of the city, who have been active in successful public events of like nature in the past and there is every indication, that the annual Halloween celebration will be a decided success.

It is planned that there be the usual parade of members and distribution of prizes for the best costumes and indications are that there will be a street dance, weather conditions being such as to warrant it and making such an event enjoyable.

Parade Early
Due to the fact that Rochester High one of the fast W. P. I. A. L. football teams of the present season, will play New Castle High at Taggart Stadium on that night, the parade will be planned early enough in the evening to permit all to participate in the parade or witness it, and then go to the game.

Announcement of the parade marshals and various committees, which will assume the responsibility of the various phases of the big celebration will be made in the near future.

General Chairman Davis stated today that he was being assured on all sides of the utmost co-operation and that he expected the Halloween celebration to be one of unusual size and interest.

SKULL FRACTURED HOSPITAL REPORTS

Mrs. Martha Ketler of 448 Court street, well known in this county for her activities in church and W. C. T. U. circles, is in the Jameson Memorial hospital today with a fractured skull, following an accident at the corner of Highland and Boyle avenue about seven fifteen o'clock Monday evening.

The details of the accident are not established as yet. From the statements of Francis Madden of Neshannock boulevard, driver of the car, it appears that Mrs. Ketler was confused in crossing the street and in some manner bumped into the car of Mr. Madden, according to his story.

Mrs. Ketler fell to the street and was taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital. Here it was ascertained there was a fracture of the skull. Everything possible was done to ease her condition and the hospital reported today she had spent a fairly comfortable night.

DOLLY GANN IS VICTORIOUS

Patten Sisters, Who Wield Social Power In Washington's Resident Society, Accept Vice President's Sister Over Alice Longworth

The final stronghold lost in the Gann-Longworth feud—but Alice keeps a stiff upper lip.

By YANNER ALEXANDER
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The Gann-Longworth precedence controversy is at an end so far as Washington is concerned, and the victory is to Mrs. Dolly Gann, sister and hostess of Vice President Charles Curtis.

Washington society is divided roughly into four overlapping groups: the diplomatic set, the army and navy set, the official group of representatives, does not publicly admit defeat. But the significant fact is that the last entrenched stronghold of the Longworth forces, the "Cave Dwellers" group, has accepted Mrs. Gann.

Hoover's Favor Doubly Claimed

Both Pinchot And Foes Claim Support Of President In Pennsylvania

PINCHOT DECLARES STAND MADE KNOWN

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Oct. 21.—President Hoover has sent word by one of his cabinet officers that he stands for and desires the election of the whole Republican ticket.

This declaration by Gifford Pinchot, Republican nominee for governor, to an audience at Washington, Pa., today made the president's attitude toward his candidacy a direct issue in Pennsylvania's hectic gubernatorial campaign.

Both Claim Favor.

Pinchot drew the mantle of presidential favor around his shoulders at the very moment his bolting Republican foes were planning a counter announcement, placing Mr. Hoover in the attitude of desiring Pinchot's defeat. The Republican nominee, however, asserted that he stood in the president's favor and that he would support the election of the whole Republican ticket.

The Pinchot utterance brought a prompt contradiction at the headquarters here of the Liberal party, composed entirely of Republicans who bolted to Hemphill. One Liberal party leader declared that while the president would take no part in Pennsylvania's gubernatorial contest, he actually desired Pinchot's defeat. This leader declined to be quoted until after he could confer with other party leaders but intimated a formal statement would be issued later, declaring Mr. Hoover would prefer to see Pinchot beaten even if it meant the elevation of a Democrat to the governorship.

Pinchot's declaration brought the name of Mr. Hoover into this turbulent campaign significantly for the first time. The Republican nominee made one of his usual speeches to his Washington (Pa.) audience, assailing Republican bolters, before declaring the president favored his election as governor. The nominee particularly condemned Samuel Vaucian, chairman of the board of the Baldwin Locomotive works; Charles Hall, member of the Philadelphia Republican "war board"; and Philomen Dickinson, prominent industrialist, all of whom have bolted to Hemphill.

See Effect in 1932.

Pinchot's reference to his own election as being necessary for a Republican victory in 1932 was widely interpreted here. His own followers interpreted it as meaning that the revolt in Pennsylvania, if successful, would inspire like revolts in other states in 1932. At Liberal party headquarters, it was interpreted as a threat by Pinchot to oppose Mr. Hoover in 1932 if defeated for governor by Republican discussion this year.

Pinchot made no effort to identify the cabinet officer who brought him news of the president's favor. It was generally believed to have been Secretary of Labor James J. Davis. Republican nominee for U. S. senator, who is Pinchot's running mate. Rumors have spread through the state for some time that Davis had made such a statement to his friends, only to be immediately contradicted by Liberal party leaders.

DOLLY GANN IS VICTORIOUS

functions to which her rival was invited. The only exceptions were one or two White House invitations for which reasonable declinations were impossible to produce. In the circle of great hostesses who pride themselves on the size rather than the exclusiveness of their affairs the stalemate was carried through when both Mrs. Gann and Princess Alice announced policies of declining if the other had accepted, or was invited.

Among the cave dwellers, the sanctified upholders of the dignity of resident social traditions, however, Mrs. Longworth apparently reigned supreme. The Longworth home at 2009 Massachusetts avenue was across the street and one block away from the home of the three Misses Patten, at 2122 Massachusetts, and only the ultra elect were aware that the three maiden sisters were occasionally shocked at the Roosevelt-Longworth disregard of tradition.

Any one of the three would have been a power by herself, but living together in their brick mansion their accretions of influence down the years have resulted in a consolidation that amounts to sway over those who are rated most highly in resident society.

Recently Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, wife of the unassuming Washington lawyer and sister of the vice president, was a tea guest of the Misses Patten. More recently she was a tea guest again. In view of the Gann ultimatum that only those who recognize the superiority of the vice president, and his hostess, to the speaker and his wife may receive the former, it immediately became apparent that the Patten sisters have handed the final plum to Mrs. Dolly on a platter.

Society's Verdict.

At any rate, such has been the verdict of that portion of society home from its summer places. Most significant is that every function with even a flavor of formality planned since the first tea has been designed with the understanding that Mrs. E. S. Gann, if she accepts, will outrank everyone present save, perhaps, the hostess herself, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, and, possibly, the feminine guest of honor.

Meantime, Princess Alice keeps the Rooseveltian stiff upper lip as always, silent for publication, while the Curtis-Gann triad looked pleased and Helen, Mary and Josephine Patten, secure in their power, are complacent.

Gifford Griffith, sentenced to one year in Atlanta penitentiary on charges of making false claims to the government. Griffith obtained a pension and entered a soldier's home by using discharged papers of his brother who was a soldier in the Spanish-American war.

Robert R. Brooks, of Cleveland, sentenced to four years in Atlanta penitentiary for peddling drugs.

Wallace R. Williams, sentenced to serve three years for breaking into the postoffice at Rennerdale, Pa., and stealing 400 blank postal money orders.

Other prisoners for Atlanta included John Giammanico, Anthony Bodner, Solomon P. Mericle, Lewis W. Byers, Gordon Warren, Harry S. Brooks, Clifford Wilson, Lindsay Maddox, Herbert Brown, and John Hoffman.

THIRTY THREE MINERS KILLED IN GERMANY

of benzine stored above ground exploded. A sheet of flame shot toward the sky, throwing a red glow over the countryside for miles around.

Miraculous Escape.

The miners who were changing shifts underground scrambled for the exits, and most of them made a miraculous escape a few moments before the mine and the buildings above it were reduced to shambles. Rescue workers who rushed to the scene were relieved to find that the majority of the miners had made their escape, and all efforts were directed immediately toward saving those entombed in the wrecked shaft.

The bodies of the 33 known dead were burned almost beyond recognition. It appeared the victims had met instant death. A number of the injured were reported in a critical condition.

Several hours after the blast it was reported only a few miners were still entombed in the wrecked shaft and rescue workers hoped to reach them shortly. Although a large number were still unaccounted for it was believed a further check-up would reveal they had escaped.

Among the first to arrive at the scene were the wives, mothers and children of the mine workers, who comprise the bulk of Alsodorf's population. Heavy details of police were posted at the entrance to the mine shaft to keep the hysterical crowds back. Poignant scenes were witnessed as one by one the charred bodies of the victims were brought to the surface.

Were Changing Shifts.

That the disaster was not greater was attributed to the fact the miners were changing shifts at the time the blast occurred, with the result the majority of them were in fairly easy reach of emergency exits. Among the victims were office employees who were working in the administration buildings when the dual explosion occurred.

Rescue workers were seriously handicapped by white-hot flames which burst from the wreckage of the mine. Direct approach was impossible, but the entombed men were reached by tunneling from the mouth of a nearby mine.

In all, 23 bodies were recovered above ground. Some of them were believed to be those of miners who had reached the surface after the first blast but had been killed by the benzine explosion.

Red Cross detachments from all surrounding towns and cities were pressed into service in the work of rescue. Some time after the blast telephone communication was restored with subterranean depths of the wrecked mine, by means of which the work of rescue was directed. Some ventilators were found intact through which air was pumped into the wrecked shaft in an effort to keep alive any miners who might still be entombed.

of advancing projects so as to begin at once what ordinarily would await the coming of spring.

The Federal government on one hand, will be expected to co-ordinate its building programs and expedite their commencement, while states will be sought for getting the states to start their road building and repair operations in parts of the country where weather conditions will permit.

Funds Created

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—More than $5,100,000 was being marshalled by New York to wage an intensive war against unemployment under the new impetus of Federal plans as embodied by the Hoover government committee.

The municipal government has set aside $1,000,000 in a regular budget appropriation. It is sure to be included when the budget comes up for final hearing before the board of estimate and will immediately be put to work.

Wall Street concerns will be asked to contribute a minimum of $3 a week to the New York Banker's emergency committee fund of $150,000 weekly for six months to end unemployment in Manhattan and the Bronx.

Brooklyn businessmen launched a campaign for $200,000 for immediate relief in that borough and a fund of $500,000 is being raised in Queens.

To Aid Unemployed

Some idea of the amount of labor that had to be performed between the arrival of the first party on the island on August 21 and the date of the eclipse, can be gained from the fact that all of the equipment had to be landed at the base of a 75 foot cliff and concrete pillars had to be constructed upon which to mount the major equipment. A radio station was set up to afford communication with the outside world and receive the naval observatory time signals, essential to successful timing of the observations.

Mr. Hoover, it was stated, "is taking no part, directly or indirectly, in any state political campaign," and it one of his cabinet officers made such an announcement it was unauthorized.

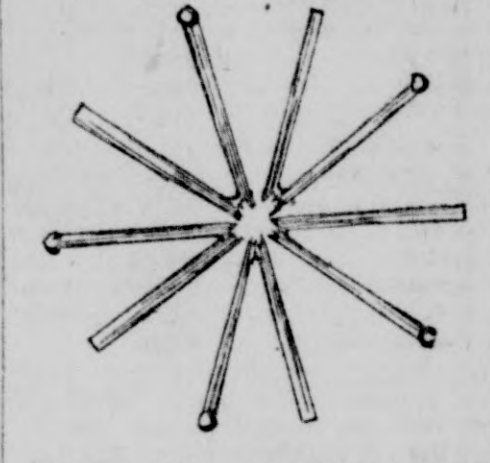

Secretary of Labor Davis, who is a candidate for senator from Pennsylvania on the same ticket with Gifford Pinchot, running for governor, was equally prompt with his denial today that he had carried any word of the president's preferences in Pennsylvania politics.

Davis did not amplify his denial at the white house, where he had been attending a cabinet meeting, but said he might have a formal statement later.

Eugene Meyer, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, has been named by President Hoover to organize, with the help of Cabinet members, Federal plans for national unemployment relief. The appointment followed discussions by the President with bankers and industrial leaders from all over the country.

STAR LORE MEASURING A STAR'S DIAMETER

By ARTHUR DE V. CARPENTER

The stars appear to the unaided eye as tiny points of bright light. When seen through the telescope of great power, a star still appears as a point of light and not as a disc or globe form. In fact, a star shows no diameter—only the ray of light radiated from the star. But not so with planets for they display their globular forms distinctly. The absence of disc to a star is a result of its remoteness. However, Professor Michelson invented the interferometer that makes the measurement of a star's diameter possible. This is "a feat equivalent to measuring the diameter of a penny at a distance of a thousand miles."

era, a 2,500 foot Einstein camera and 12,000 feet of lumber. Reporting on the lollipop angle of solar observation, commander Keppler said:

"The natives are very hospitable, amiable and curious and when they are not 'in church' which is five or six times a day, they are in and around the camp in great numbers. Our all-day suckers and gaudy trinkets have worked like a charm. The natives will work some, but their principal occupation is religion."

Niaufou or Tin Can Island, according to commander Keppler, is an ideal tropical South Sea Island. The thermometer goes up to 85° 90 degrees in daytime but the nights are cool, some times as cool as 58 degrees.

Gathers Valuable Data

Not alone are the scientists in the party studying the eclipse, Dr. T. A. Jaggar of Honolulu, Seismologist, has set up seismographs in various spots and made some interesting observations of the volcano and last year's eruption which destroyed the village of Futo.

Dr. M. C. Kellers, through the magic of lollipops, has most of the children on the islands gathering specimens of the Futa and Futa. He has secured several specimens of a curious bird, the Malau, which is the size of a pigeon but lays eggs as big as those of a turkey. The Malau lays these eggs three to six inches deep in Lava dust and then never returns to the spot, leaving the young birds, after they hatch, to dig their way out and shift for themselves.

Some idea of the amount of labor that had to be performed between the arrival of the first party on the island on August 21 and the date of the eclipse, can be gained from the fact that all of the equipment had to be landed at the base of a 75 foot cliff and concrete pillars had to be constructed upon which to mount the major equipment. In Iowa, jobs were provided for 1,500 men by the inauguration of three pipe lines across the state.

Kansas City's municipal council voted to speed up all public works, and adopted twelve ordinances to that end.

Pittsburgh's city council appropriated an emergency fund of $100,000, to be administered by such organizations as the Red Cross, Salvation Army, and Catholic Charities, to relieve suffering while municipal authorities contemplated ways and means of providing more permanent relief in the form of jobs.

A survey of the country, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, revealed there is scarcely a city or community but what is alive to the national menace of unemployment and suffering as winter prepares to dig in.

Name Wood Head

Washington, Oct. 21.—After a two-hour cabinet session, mostly devoted to discussing the severe unemployment situation, it was announced today that Congress will be asked to cut red tape to permit the acceleration of federal public works, and that Col. Arthur Woods, former police commissioner of New York, has been designated by President Hoover as the chief co-ordinator of the government's campaign to provide jobs for jobless workers.

Agreement apparently was reached by President Hoover and his advisers that the chief function that can be performed by the federal government at this critical time is to proceed with all possible federal projects at this time and to try to co-ordinate the efforts of federal, state and municipal agencies for relief.

It is in this work of co-ordination that Col. Woods is expected to excel. He has had considerable experience in dealing with unemployment. He headed a movement to get jobs for returning soldiers after the war, and later, in the depression of 1922, he was called in by President Harding to assist the federal efforts at remedying the unemployment at that time.

It was estimated at today's session of the Hoover cabinet commission that there are now 3,500,000 workless wage earners in the country. This is approximately 1,000,000 more than was "estimated" by the census bureau last April. Even under normal conditions it is estimated there are approximately 1,000,000 persons unemployed in the country, drifters, workmen shifting from one vocation to another, etc., so that the 2,500,000 increase is set down to the abnormal industrial conditions now prevailing.

Capital Firemen Barred Acting As Pallbearers

By ALFRED T. NEWBERRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Can a fireman, employed regularly by the city, give all his energy and his attention to his position if he works during his hours off as a paid pallbearer or limousine driver in funerals?

The District Commissioners have said no and from now on not a single fireman or policeman in Washington will be watching the clock for his time to quit so he might discard his uniform and take part in a funeral.

The commissioners acted to prevent members of the two services, who have steady jobs at fair wages, from doing work that ordinarily would be given to the unemployed. William W. McBride, corporation counsel, ruled they were within their rights by prohibiting city employees from accepting outside work for pay.

Serving as pallbearers and driving funeral limousines, for which tasks a group of firemen (statistics for the police department were not compiled) earned last year a total of $5,965, are not the only extra jobs barred. In fact any sort of work for which a fee is paid, is on the black list.

Altogether the firemen worked an aggregate of 37,377 hours and were paid a total of $29,477. Painting and incidental repairs headed the list with a yield of $6,593, one fireman reported he "went into the garage business and lost $600. Another received $25 as a landscape gardener and another $250 for serving as an election judge.

Those fire-fighters who specialized in repair work during their leisure hours received $1,067, for carpentry and weather stripping, $2,524 and some earned $1,425 by dickering in real estate.

SUCCESSFUL SOCIAL EVENT AT P.O. HALL

The Women's Committee, New Castle district, of the Pennsylvania Power Company, held a six o'clock dinner in the Home Service Room of the Pennsylvania Power Co. building last evening.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carson, home economist, was responsible for the very attractive and delicious dinner served.

A committee composed of Ann Fowler, Edna Emminger, Mary Whalen and Mae Cummings sponsored an interesting programme, which included pep singing, solos rendered delightfully by Ann Rogan, talk by Mr. C. R. England, assistant district manager, on the interrelation of the various departments and the part the women play in the organization, the theme of Mr. W. C. McKeown's talk was the history and surprising growth of the company. Mr. McKeown is the manager of the Treasury Department and has been associated with the company for quite a number of years.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Mae Cummings, president; Martha Dinsmore, vice president and Gladys Lewis secretary. Various committees will be appointed later.

Games, music and bridge concluded the programme. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. C. M. England, Martha Dinsmore, Elma Haltunen, Ann Fowler and Elizabeth McCulloch.

The electrical industry offers many interesting and advantageous places to women. The Women's Committee offers a program of education in the entire structure and operation of utilities and their relation to the public. The purpose of the Women's Committee is twofold: Educational and Social.

It was interesting to note that the attendance at last evening's meeting was 100 per cent. There are twenty-four girls in the New Castle district, including Elma Haltunen of the Bessemer district, Esther James of the Ellwood district, and Audrey Albert of the Zellenopolis district.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. England and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McKeown were guests of the evening.

These dinner programmes will be monthly affairs and plans are being formulated for the winter season.

MRS. WILLIAM REAGLE GIVES SPLENDID TALK

The Women's club met Monday in the parlors of the Highland United Presbyterian church with the president, Mrs. Albert Street, presiding. After the session opened, Mrs. J. G. Nodding gave a wonderful memorial tribute to Mrs. Ada Barker Donnan, one of their original members, who had for the past few years prior to her death made her home with relatives out of the city and who was also an honorary member. Report from all the committees followed. One in particular that was most interesting was the account given of the convention of Women's clubs held in Scranton, by Mrs. Albert Street.

The program followed when Mrs. T. S. McAnis very capably introduced the speaker of the day, Mrs. William Reagle of Grove City, president of the League of Women Voters of Mercer county. She spoke on "What Women have accomplished in the past ten years in the field of Politics." In her talk she included various examples of the many offices filled by women and also put her approval on the voting machine. She fully discussed many points regarding this topic, that held the keen interest of all those present.

The next meeting of the club will take place in two weeks at their regular place on November 3, which will come under the department of international relationship with Mrs. William Cosel chairman.

October Club

Mr. and Mrs. Vennor Bright entertained in a charming manner for the members of the October club on Friday night, October 16th. A splendid chicken dinner with all the "fixings" was the main feature of the evening. Wedding costumes, reminiscences and newspaper clippings caused a lot of merriment and the final realistic touch was supplied by some friends in the form of a very noisy serenade of tin pans, bells, etc.

All the members of the club were celebrating their wedding anniversaries this month and will remember a very happy evening with Mr. and Mrs. Bright. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hornung and daughter, Catherine Claire, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Robbins and daughter, Lois, Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Wagner and sons, Billie and Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miner and son, Robert, and Mr. and Mrs. Bright.

OBSERVE NOTABLE WEDDING DATE

Reminiscing over 55 years of happy married life would to the average person seem a real experience, but that, nevertheless, was the pleasure that came today to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rodgers, well-known former residents who now reside with a daughter at Princeton, W. Va.

Five years back the couple celebrated their half-century of married life, but today in the home of their daughter no elaborate festivities were to occur. They will spend a quiet day, the kind they've been spending together for the 55 years back.

In good health, Mr. Rodgers, now 81, and Mrs. Rodgers who is about to start her 76th year, are about the happiest folks Princeton residents know. They're both active as far as getting about in concerned.

Mrs. J. C. McConnell, the daughter with whom they live, and a sister of W. H. Rodgers of Fairmont avenue here, was planning to receive a part of the family today from different points, gathering to mark the occasion by their presence. Mr. and Mrs. McConnell were united in marriage in the old Plaingrove Presbyterian church not far from Slippery Rock, by the late Rev. Samuel Williams.

YOUNG FOLKS HAVE FETE IN CHURCH

The parlors of the Central Presbyterian church presented a fanciful appearance Monday evening as the young people of the church assembled, garbed in all manner of beautiful, humorous and grotesque costumes. Old time Beau Brummels appeared with the modern comic strip characters and after looking them all over the judges awarded prizes to Sally Swisher and Mary Elizabeth Jenkins. The room of the church carried out the Halloween spirit with the decorations suggestive of the day throughout.

Margaret Moser was chairman of the entertainment for the evening and she introduced a number of novel and interesting Halloween games, with a witch's well and the eggspoon game being kept exceedingly busy all evening. Among the guests were a number from out of town.

To close the evening the social committee took charge and served a delicious lunch.

WILL CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

On Saturday, October 25, an interesting social event will occur when Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Cameron of the Harlansburg road will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron even though advanced in years, are enjoying good health, and only recently, they returned from a long motor journey over the mountains, which they enjoyed immensely.

Surprise Party

Sixteen ladies from the Ellwood City review of the W. B. A. motored to the home of Mrs. Ethel Thomas of 705 County Line street, as a surprise. All wore Halloween costumes.

Readings were enjoyed, given by Mrs. Goodwill and Mrs. Wolfe and a solo was sung by Mrs. Shally.

Later a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Lemery and Mrs. Johnson of Ellwood and Anna Patterson and Mrs. Emma McKissick of New Castle. Halloween colors were carried out. Mrs. W. J. The classes met at the diamond early in the evening and proceeded to six different homes, a short time being spent at each place, with some different sort of entertainment featuring the time. The classes ended at the McGarry home on English avenue, where music and games were played and the hours and here a delicious lunch was served.

WHY NOT REFORESTATION

AS WE travel around over the state of Pennsylvania, and note the acres upon acres of land that are apparently not being used for any purpose whatsoever, we wonder why there is not more effort being made at reforestation.

Most every kind of trees will grow in Pennsylvania; the state is providing seedlings by the thousands, and there seems to be everything provided for developing this reforestation movement to a far greater degree than at present.

Why wouldn't it be a fine idea even to carry on a more extensive work of this nature as a state undertaking, if it makes little appeal to the individual land owners. Reforestation on an extensive scale would be a beneficial move in Pennsylvania we are convinced.

And why not more attention to reforestation in Lawrence county? Why not set out acres and acres of trees?

Years hence it would bring results that are little conceived at the present time.

Plant trees!

NAVY DAY—ROOSEVELT'S BIRTHDAY

NAVY DAY, October 27, is also the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt, twenty-sixth president of the United States. The date was selected deliberately, since navy men regard President Roosevelt as one of the potent influences in the growth of the navy, and since his name has long been one to conjure with.

To the modern generation this may be hard to understand. It is now nearly 22 years since Roosevelt passed out of public office, and one must be more than 30 years old to remember much about his administration. Perhaps young people wonder why their elders have such a vivid memory of the man, since his administration was marked by no war, or acquisition of large territory by purchase or any other achievement more spectacular than the beginning of the Panama Canal.

Nor it is an easy matter to explain. Very young people, boys and girls of 21, hardly remember President Wilson. Their knowledge of the white house dates from Harding, at the earliest, and their conception of the white house is what it has been for the last 10 years, that is to say, another government building, only slightly more interesting than the department of agriculture or the treasury.

But when Theodore Roosevelt was its occupant the white house was to no small extent the national sounding-board of ideas. Politicians frequented it as much as they do now, but everybody else frequented it, too—that is, everybody who was interesting. Any man with an idea was welcomed by the vivid president. A poet, an actor, a scientist, an author, a cowboy, a musician, an inventor was as promptly received as a party boss. As an inevitable result the place swarmed with cranks of the most fantastic description; but it also swarmed with big men, some of them great men, who never entered the field of politics. One never knew what might come out of the white house when Theodore Roosevelt reigned there. In consequence the public watched the white house with curiosity and intense interest. This is what the generation that knew Roosevelt cannot forget.

WITCHES AND ROMANCE

AGES back people had fearful faith in the existence of witches, ghosts, spirits and other creatures of the phantom and eerie world and believed they revisited or worked their greatest charms on the night of October 31, the eve of All Hallow or All Saints' Day. The supernatural became natural on this night and it was then one might learn from some friendly specter the name of one's future mate. And the whole night long, while ghosts stalked abroad and broom-straddling witches swept across the mysterious heavens, mortal beings made merry and tempted the spirits or tested their charms.

This age has witnessed the passing of these creations of the superstitious mind but it has not permitted the manifestations of their Hallowe'en presence to cease. Gates still disappear mysteriously, wagons are hoisted by some supernatural power to the gable of the barn, strange rappings are heard at the living-room window, doorsteps are miraculously shuffled, but innocent ghosts and harmless hags are no longer blamed for these prankish perpetrations.

These two eras arranged thus against each other suggest a possible reform in modern methods of Hallowe'en celebration which should receive popular approval, except by those hoodlums who accept the night of October 31 as a license for unrestrained vandalism. If the gate-snatching, window-soaping urchins will say aye let future Hallowe'en celebrations take on the color of those romantic and frolicsome Hallowe'en festivals of which the poets have sung, with their pageantry, apple-bobbing, playful ceremonies and charm workings.

MONTICELLO IS PAID FOR

And Monticello belong to the nation! The second mortgage of $300,000 was paid this week. The home of Jefferson is free of liens.

When the acquisition of this great shrine was undertaken in 1922, Mt. Vernon and Arlington were the only major historic homes in Virginia that could be counted as public property, open to all the people, all the time. Now look at the list—Mt. Vernon, Arlington, Monticello, Stratford, the Moore farm, where Cornwallis' articles of capitulation were agreed upon; Kenmore, the Nelson mansion at Yorktown, and the residence of George Wythe, with other homes almost as interesting in Williamsburg. All these are regularly accessible to the public, either through purchase, through gift, or through the creation of a special trust.

Scattered about Virginia are a number of houses architecturally interesting or important for their historical associations, but only one shrine of the very first rank remains in private hands. That, of course, is Montpelier, home of the least appreciated of all the great Virginia Revolutionaries. If Madison's home is given in time to the nation by the patriotic family that now owns it, a state that was once embarrassed by the great abundance of its shrines may well affirm that all of those standing at the beginning of the new movement for their purchase are safe from the uncertainties of private ownership.—The Richmond News Leader.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE

In Germany, at Hanover, a cigar-shaped car, built like a Zeppelin, running on an abandoned railroad track, driven by a 400-horsepower airplane motor, its propeller hitting against the air, as a steamship's screw hits against the water, carried 40 passengers 100 miles an hour. It can go faster.

The German government makes this experiment, and we, in free America, will be content to shout "paternalism" and borrow the idea, later.

Such cars or other small carrying units, started at short intervals, each making a non-stop trip to its destination, will solve the fast transportation problem for railroads, and solve, also, their problem of motor omnibus competition.

To fasten 10 or more heavy cars together, haul them with innumerable expensive stops, is stupidly wasteful, as this column has occasionally suggested.

Railroads have the tracks, the right of way, the possibility of speed that motor buses cannot touch.

If they have brains and energy to discard long trains, especially suburban runs, substituting small units, each an express, they will pay better dividends, and give better service.

The gift from France seems to suggest "Remember that we can come and get you."

That from Hindenburg might mean "Enjoy yourself, while you may. In Germany, we know that the emperor business has its ups and downs."

"Can't hear him, eh? Well, sit down and thank heaven you can't."

State Rights Issue In Brazil Interests North Americans

Financial Depression And Conflicting Aims Declared To Have Contributed To Revolutionary Measures In South American Country

Conflict between the central government of Brazil and some of the provinces interests North Americans because of the state rights involved. That this country is concerned as to the settlement of controversies is emphasized because of business and investment relations between the two nations, but it is held that the United States had no part in the existing disputes. Many are inclined to the view that business depression has led to the criticism of the government.

The tendency toward lack of harmony is brought out by the CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER, with the statement: "Here is a great people shaped to a Portuguese tradition of militant independence. Governmental reverberations in such a nation are no mere tempest in the coffee pot." As the situation is viewed by the OAKLAND TRIBUNE: "The revolutionists have been fighting a government which was put in office at a popular election last year. The rebellion is unlike some others in the Latin America, in that it is no attempt to overthrow a dictator, but rather an armed movement on the part of certain states where interests and policies are at variance with those of the majority."

It is declared by the BIRMINGHAM NEWS that "under the constitution, the federal government was forbidden to interfere in the government of the states save in carefully defined circumstances," but that paper records that "significantly, in 1928, these rights were extended to enable the government to intervene in order to reorganize the finances of a state which is demonstrably unable to meet its obligations." The News concludes that "the present struggle seems to have been born of some such exigency, perhaps the government now in power created resentment in the states whose economic life was already disturbed."

Charging that "the trouble started in the inflammable state of Rio Grande do Sul" and that "these untrammelled folk turn to revolution as their more civilized countrymen turn to bull fights," the MILWAUKEE SENTINEL says, "Whether it will result in the setting up of an independence by the Rio Grandistas—one of their ancient hopes—it is still too early to say. Our guess is that the state of Rio Grande do Sul will yet be a department of the Brazilian republic when the cattle barons are receiving more beef orders and the cowboys are set again to pursuing errand kites rather than their loyal fellow citizens."

"Economic distress has accentuated the critical attitude of opponents of the government, which is alleged to have increased greatly the public debt, mismanaged public funds, and manipulated national elections to secure control for another term," in the opinion of the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH. The GRAND RAPIDS SENTINEL says, "Brazil has suffered from dishonest government or, not the fact that a grave depression has been inevitable and that Brazilian discontent goes with depressions."

"The agitators were emboldened and helped, no doubt," thinks the ATLANTA JOURNAL, "by disturbances in Peru, Argentina and Bolivia, all of which have very soundly been helped by the one who can countries," continues that paper, "are in the business doldrums. Their export trade has sadly declined, their productive enterprises lag for want of markets, their ranks of unemployed men have increased; they feel acutely the effects of a worldwide slump. Such conditions are due to smoldering fires of all manner of discontent."

Notwithstanding the economic conditions, the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD points to the greatness of the natural resources of that country, and remarks: "With its 4,000 miles of Atlantic ocean coast line its noble mountain ranges, its 40,000 miles of navigable inland waters, its fertile valleys and prolific plains it is a land of opportunity. It has great mineral resources, vast undeveloped water-power possibilities and the surface of the agricultural wealth has been hardly more than scratched. It is already the greatest coffee producer in the world, and its rubber production has grown to large proportions. For a time, at least, its people must turn from the peaceful occupation of developing the latent resources of their land to arbitrating in blood the claims of two conflicting parties."

"The issues are vague, but the revolution stands as striking evidence of the fact that revolutions in Latin America seem indispensable to progress," avers the HARRISBURG PATRIOT, while the WORCESTER EVENING GAZETTE suggests that "there are it appears people on each side who really believe there is something involved in the quarrel that is worth fighting over," with the result that "to compromise, for either faction, means surrender." The BUFFALO EVENING NEWS interprets the situation as "an expression of the idea that the possession of governmental power is a prize to be used by those who hold or can win it for their own enrichment." The ASHEVILLE CITIZEN-TIMES sees "back of these events the fact that the modern world is more restless, more cosmopolitan, and more prone to change than was ever the case before." As to the military participants, the RICHMOND NEWS LEADER offers the theory: "The troops of the active army serve, in the main, in the states where they have lived, and as states' rights are very strong in Brazil, it may well be that in the present uprising, many of the troops have considered that they owed their first allegiance to their state, and not to the central government."

"As Americans have some heavy investments in Brazil," declares the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE, "naturally they are concerned over anything that disturbs stability, while recognizing, of course, that the people of the country have a right to shape their own government. In this connection, there is reassurance in the record of the recent revolutions in respect of international relationships." Listing the various interests in the United States that are represented in Brazil, the ST. PAUL DISPATCH concludes: "In view of these facts, it is easy to understand the state department's meticulous efforts to support the established order in Brazil." The ASBURY PARK PRESS holds that the successful faction "will hardly risk intervention of this country and Great Britain by endangering foreign investments."

"The world needs less strife," asserts the CHAMPAIGN NEWS-GAZETTE. "The opportunity for putting American ideals into active operation were never better than at the present time, in connection with the South American situation."

Many Become Lazy Imperilling Health

"With all the labor saving devices and with the purchasable service now obtainable along many other lines, a large number of persons are apparently becoming physically lazy. And the pity of it is they appear to be extremely proud of the fact," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health, today.

"For example, a man just yesterday boasted of his over-use of his automobile. 'Never walk any more, why should I?' he exclaimed. Again, a woman in most comfortable circumstances was asked whether she did any chores around the house, whereat she haughtily exclaimed that work was absolutely no concern of hers!

"These illustrations merely serve to emphasize the unfortunate fact that among certain classes of persons physical exertion is considered to be quite beneath them. And more the pity. For however changed the attitude toward exercising the body may be, the very significant fact is that the physiological economy is so constructed that muscular activity is absolutely essential to achieve and maintain a topnotch condition.

"What countless people seem to forget is that nature is not a conciliatory proposition. From the days of Adam it has demanded that physical exertion be habitually employed as one of the prices of prime health. And from this fundamental law nature has not deviated one particle from that day until this. Automobiles, mechanical contrivances and servants are all fine in themselves if we can afford them. But they cannot be forced on old nature as 'just as good as exercise.' It knows better, even if overtrained civilization is not willing to admit it; and moreover, it exacts its penalty sooner or later.

"One perhaps can afford to be high-bred regarding many things and many customs. To be classed as a snob may result. But after all, that is as nothing compared with the punishment nature is likely to hand out to one who disobeys her fundamental rules.

"It follows that exercise, geared to one's age, is one of the basic obligations that cannot be delegated to other persons or things. The man or woman who is too proud to use the body muscles sometimes becomes too proud to live."

The report for September follows: C. H. Reeves, Superintendent of Public Safety.

Dear Sir:—

The following is the report of the Department of Fire for the month of September, 1930:

WHEN I WAS BEING RUSHED

The boy has gone to college and we're lonely as can be.

But his letters bring a lot of joy to mother and to me.

"I'm being rushed," he tells us, "I had breakfast yesterday.

With the Upsi Epas Etas and I dined with Ex Owe Jay!

As I strolled along the campus came a senior up to me.

And he whispered "Sunday evening come and sup with A. B. C."

Oh, the college that I went to was the big world's ceaseless grind.

And the letters of our youngster bring those early days to mind.

With a chuckle I recall them, and the things men said and did.

As they welcomed into business just another eager kid.

At the tricks they played upon me in my ignorance I blushed.

It was all so very different when I was being rushed.

For a left-hand wrench they sent me for a round square I was chased.

I was called to look at type lice and a spray of ink I faced.

It was "Hey, there! Get a move on! Run these proofs to Brown and Black."

Stop at Coats and Suits for copy and be sure you hurry back!"

In that school of harsh experience oft my cheeks with shame were flushed.

But I learned what legs were made for when I was being rushed.

Those old days gave us no emblems we could pin upon our vests.

But they did initiate us, and they gave us all the tests.

And much like these college "rushings" when at last probation ends.

In the ranks of those we've worked with we have found our lifetime friends.

So I chuckle recalling all the type I've cleaned and brushed.

Saying: "Mother, as a youngster, there's no doubt that I was rushed."

Don't gamble, but gather money together and watch your opportunity to invest. Some stock will sell $400 per share above present prices, before 1940.

When the President speaks the stock exchange will oblige, if it can. President Hoover told the president and vice president of the stock exchange what he thought of selling short, thus adding to public worry. And, suddenly, it has become hard to borrow stocks in Wall street. Short sellers must borrow what they sell, since they have not got it.

No one knows who sent around the word not to lend stock for short sales.

And no one knows what the result will be. The way of an eagle in the air, a ship in the sea, a serpent on a rock, or a man with a maid is simplicity compared with stock dealing and finance generally.

Letting nature take its course may be the best plan, in the long run.

A nation's wealth comes from the soil and depends on fertility. Fertility depends largely on nitrogen. Untold quantities of nitrogen are in the air above us; billions and billions of tons, and science, with the aid of electricity, can bring it down.

Among countries engaged in synthetic nitrogen output, this country stands number nine.

That is not a high rank for the richest nation on earth with industry so highly developed.

Make fertilizers cheaper, the soil richer, and the farmer can get what he needs, covering a smaller area, and he becomes more efficient. One difficulty lies in the fact that organized producers of fertilizer do not want government meddling with their business, and they have more influence, working all year round, than 20,000,000 farmers voting once in four years.

How does electricity travel. Does it move inside the empty spaces between electrons in the atom, does it jump from atom to atom, as a bell ringer rings his series of bells.

When an electric power line is mentioned, you think of copper wire. But a power line in Canada, 230 miles long, carrying a 220,000 volt load, is built of aluminum.

It is a curious construction, many strands of aluminum wound over a few strands of steel.

That interests copper producers and stockholders. Will someone find an electric carrier better and cheaper than any now known?

What will the new idea do to aluminum stock values?

Dr. T. Frank Nugent,
Back From Buffalo,
After Halt By Snow

Back from the Buffalo district, where a premature winter blanketed highways with four feet of snow, thus stalling automobiles, busses and causing consternation among tourists, T. Frank Nugent, of North Cochran Way, said today that the snow found was the worst in his experience. "I have seen snow storms, lived through hard winters and know what heavy snow means, but the freak storm in Buffalo Saturday had everything beaten."

Nugent arrived here Monday evening. He had started from Buffalo Saturday night, expecting to arrive early Sunday, but was delayed by the snow storm. The road between Buffalo and Westfield was finally cleared and he was able to proceed. He said automobiles, trucks and busses had been abandoned by drivers after finding they could not continue.

Officers Capture "Bugs" Moran In Roadhouse Raid

(International News Service) WAUKEGAN, Ill., Oct. 21.—A raiding squad of sheriff's deputies today captured George "Bugs" Moran, Chicago gang leader and enemy of Alphonse Capone, in a raid on a Cassidy's lake roadhouse 18 miles northwest of here.

Moran attempted to draw a revolver when the squad entered, but was disarmed before any shots were fired. Two guns were found in his room. The gang leader was charged with vagrancy and carrying concealed weapons and was held here on $50,000 bonds in the Lake county jail. He will be questioned today by the state's attorney, it was announced.

Detectives had trailed Moran to the roadhouse from Bimiji, Minn., where he had posed as O. G. Heitel, retired business man, while organizing an asserted liquor running ring in the neighborhood of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Mt. Gretna Site May Be Retained

State Commission To Take Up Matter After State Election Date

(From News Bureau) (State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 21.—A meeting of the state military reservation commission is expected to be called soon after the November election to determine whether it will recommend the retention of the Mt. Gretna site as a training grounds for the Pennsylvania National Guard units. At the present time two of the members of the commission are busy with the Republican campaign.

Brigadier General Edward Martin, the Republican state chairman, is engaged in directing the campaign of his party while Brigadier General E. C. Shannon is the Republican nominee for lieutenant governor.

This commission was created by the last legislature to pass on the question of retaining the present reservation in Lebanon county or recommending removal to a new location. An appropriation of $300,000 and within a few weeks the new licenses for the various pieces of apparatus will have been received. Included in the list are the tractors, trailers and the new sweeper. The balance of the apparatus consists of fire-fighting apparatus, police automobiles, motorcycles and cars used by other departments.

French Women Refute Claim Of Gentility

PARIS, Oct. 20.—French women are not always the meek and feminine creatures that people have always believed them to be. Just now, a large group of girl students at the Paris university in the Latin quarter are very much up in arms and are accusing the authorities of showing real cave-man tactics with them. There is even strong talk of a general strike during the approaching term, not that the old university is unfamiliar with such demonstrations, but this will probably be the first one brought on directly by the women alone.

The students are cross because they have been reprimanded for using too much rouge and powder and for going sans stockings. But even more than that and what they consider even more dreadful, is the latest report from the inspector-general of the venerable institution accusing the girls of preventing the windows from being opened to allow fresh air to come in and thus keeping the atmosphere of the classrooms in an unbreathable state. The girls declare this is not true and demand that the inspector-general apologize or be obliged to resign.

Confusion On Amendments

Many Counties Believe Vote Is To Be Taken In November

(From News Bureau)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 21.—Publication by the Secretary of the Commonwealth's office of proposed constitutional amendments in newspapers in every county of the state is causing no end of trouble with the State elections bureau. The last legislature adopted five proposed amendments and under the law they must be published as legal advertisements this year.

Numerous inquiries have been received by the elections bureau from county commissioners and others as to why the proposed amendments were not certified to them to be included on the ballots of this fall. The bureau also has been informed that the sheriffs in several counties included the five amendments in their proclamations despite the lack of certifications.

All five amendments must pass another session of the legislature before they can be voted on by the electorate. By decisions of the Supreme Court proposed amendments to the constitution can be voted on only "timely" years which according to law are at five year intervals. The last time that amendments were passed on was two years ago.

The electorate will not vote on constitutional amendments before the next "timely" year which is 1933. It also will be possible to get additional proposed amendments on the ballot to act on at that time. Amendments if passed by the 1931 and 1933 legislatures could be voted on in the fall of that year. Since this is not a year on which a vote is to be taken on amendments the bureau did not include them in its certifications to counties.

Bo-Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—One of the grafters at Broadway and 47th street came out of the hospital last week after a third operation. "One more operation," he said, "and I'll begin to look like a sucker's bank roll."

DOOR BEGGAR!
Over in Roosevelt McBride's place the other night a legless man rolled in, strapped to a little platform on wheels. In the course of subsequent conversation I learned that he devotes his life to collecting glass on clear afternoons, in shopping district.

After inhaling six glasses of ale at a dollar a glass—the Roosevelt McBride variety being very potent—the legless gentleman began to rehearse his shortcomings, for my benefit. Among other things he bitterly reproached himself for blindness.

"How much do you think I take in a week? A lousy 250 smacks. That's 'cause I don't get out early enough in the day, an' hustle. 'Nother thing I'm too liberal—like the woodchopper sez, easy come, easy go. You know, instead of layin' stumple by fer a rainy day. . . ."

SECOND AVENUE SALON.
Second Avenue is a great thoroughfare.

Second Avenue is where "Papa" Moscovitz conducts his famous Gimme-The-Same Salon—and be careful to spell "salon" with a single O.

You won't find many starched shirt fronts there of an evening and the conversation at the crowded tables runs a racy and bizarre course from "Legs" Diamond to Schopenhauer.

"Papa" Moscovitz has been married three times and his two former wives are conducting "salons" of their own, on the same thoroughfare. Although they parted company with "Papa" there seemed to be some fascination about the name of Moscovitz, so they've clung to it, much to "Papa's" chagrin.

ORIGINAL PLUS.
Sooner or later, "Papa" Moscovitz may have to follow the procedure of Joe, the eminent Third Avenue Nose Bag Entrepreneur.

So many imitators sprang up along Third Avenue under the same title that Joe changed the name of his restaurant to "The Original Joe's."

OLD BRACER.
Speaking of Nose Bags: Old Charlie Roland, of Child's, sent me a long, passionate screed the other day, touchin' on an' appertainin' to tomatoes. Among other things, he said:

"The tomato juice cocktail, introduced by Childs about two years ago, has won immense prestige. . . . Of course, it's a small thing, but I know Charlie. If I let him get away with this tomato juice cocktail claim, the next thing you know he'll be writing to me claiming that Old Lady Childs is the author of doughnuts, pancakes, pickled walnuts and guava jelly."

Two years ago the tomato juice cocktail may first have found its way into the "Bean Bazaars" of Charlie's Boss. But long before that, many a son of Bacchus before starting for the office the morning-after-the-night before, has tip-toed into the kitchen, opened a can of tomatoes affectionately, reverently abstracted the juice and adding a little ice and some salt and pepper has drained it down. And thereafter his heart leaped, his midriff rejoiced, everything was lovely, and the goose honked high.

Don't tell ME, Charlie. I wrote the book!

LADY WINTERBOTTOM.
The Woman Next Door is named Mrs. Winterbottom. She lured the Duchess and me into her studio the other night. We were sitting there talking about nothing in particular and all wishing we were dead when the Duchess, looking across at Mrs. Winterbottom's shafts, remarked:

"My! What a purty shade those stockings are!"

"You think so?" said Mrs. Winterbottom, looking down at 'em. "It's called 'Coral Strand'."

And then old man Winterbottom, who'd been grouchin' for five minutes, spoke up.

"Whur I come f'm," he said. "We'd call 'em yaller!"

You can't beat this New York stew-dyo life.

Dedication Of New Bridge To Be Postponed

Committee Feels Time Is Too Short To Complete Arrangements For Event

GROVE CITY, Oct. 21.—The local committee in charge of the dedication of the new Chestnut street viaduct has decided to postpone the ceremonies originally planned for Armistice Day, Nov. 11. On account of the shortness of the time and the lack of funds to carry on a celebration of this nature it was decided to postpone this feature until possibly next Memorial Day.

The committee appointed to handle the detail of the celebration is composed of Frank Poehlman, R. C. Gregory of the Commercial Club, Russell Roll and W. G. Smith of the American Legion and D. C. Porter and Bub Williams of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

HORSEMAN FUNERAL.
Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Horsemans who died Thursday night in her home will be held Monday afternoon from her home with Dr. C. E. Petree of the Grace M. E. church officiating. Interment will be made in the Woodland cemetery.

A beautiful wedding was solemnized Saturday morning in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Thompson, when their only daughter, Sarah Alma Thompson, became the bride of Daryl J. Porterfield. Their vows were heard by Rev. Charles E. Petree of the Methodist church.

MID-AFTERNOON FATIGUE CAN BE READILY OVERCOME

One Can Be Quickly Refreshed By Eating Something Sweet

Eating between meals is often prescribed by doctors, especially for those working at high speed in offices and stores.

Appropriate food for such "snacks" is easy to get anywhere. The popular candy bar and the little packets of sweet cookies are outstanding examples of what is offered. Then there are the soda fountains where milk drinks and carbonated beverages can be enjoyed.

Doctors and food scientists who have given candy or sweet flavored drinks to workers have discovered that these foods restore energy quickly. Even a glass of water sweetened with sugar has proved to be invigorating. The fact that the tests have been made in the late afternoon, when vitality is low, makes the results more significant.

Refined sugar, in addition to overcoming fatigue, can help in promoting a more satisfying diet. Those foods rich in vitamins, roughage and minerals can be much improved in flavor by adding a dash of refined sugar in cooking or when serving them. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

J. R. CURRY DIES.

Joseph H. Curry, aged 52, prominent resident of the Grove City district for many years, died Monday morning at 6 o'clock in the Grove City hospital, following an operation.

Mr. Curry was born at North Liberty, the son of Samuel and Mary Curry. For the past 22 years, he had been engaged in the confectionary business in Grove City. He was a member of the Masonic lodge, past president of the Grove City Kiwanis club, a member of the board of health, and was a trustee of the United Presbyterian church.

Surviving are his wife, Stella McDougall Curry of Grove City, one brother, George A. of Pittsburgh, and two sisters, Mrs. C. A. Bower of Slippery Rock and Miss Harriett Curry of Erie.

Funeral services will be held on Wednesday at 2 o'clock from the home on Stewart avenue with Rev. H. B. Henderson, pastor of the United Presbyterian church in charge. Burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery, Grove City.

Margiotti Lined Against Constable

LEECHBURG, Pa., Oct. 21.—Charles J. Margiotti, Punxsutawney attorney who prosecuted Mrs. Irene Schroeder and W. Glenn Dague, has been engaged to prosecute Constable William Raper of Leechburg, accused of killing Joseph Conti, Leechburg soft drink manufacturer.

Margiotti was retained by relatives of the slain man. While a coroner's jury which investigated the killing did not name the slayer Raper has been charged with murder. State witnesses at a preliminary hearing testified they saw Raper and Conti drive off in an automobile together and that Raper returned alone.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is in the form of a liquid, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex. Then add plain granulated sugar or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of cressote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

COAL NEWS

A LAST MINUTE WARNING

Domestic Coal represents the cream of the country's coal production. The slack and fines are consumed by the manufacturing industry. For every ton of domestic coal produced there are three tons of slack and fines which are used by the great manufacturing industry.

When the primary industrial market falls off, the supply of domestic coal is automatically curtailed. In view of the fact that industrial activity is now but 70 per cent normal, this means a corresponding decrease in first-class domestic coal production.

With the domestic demand about to go into its seasonal high peak, the inevitable result will be an increase in the price of coal in the near future.

But there is yet time to avail yourself of the present low prices if you act NOW. But let us repeat—NOW IS THE TIME.

Auto Drivers Should Have Autos Inspected

Mayor Gillespie has received from the state highway department, motor division, a request he notify all auto owners publicly to have their cars inspected before November 1. The state highway will cause arrests of car owners who have failed to have brakes, lights and other operating equipment tested next month.

Leading Hospitals throughout America

make it a point to specify

KOTEX

Why do you suppose our outstanding hospitals, staffed by world-famous surgeons, make it a point to specify Kotex? There's more than one reason!

In the first place, it is hygienically safe. In the second place, it is amazingly absorbent—and that is vital for all surgical purposes. Actually—think of this—Kotex is five times as absorbent as the finest surgical cotton! The material of which it is made (Cellucotton—not cotton—absorbent wadding) is laid layer upon air-cooled layer. And each one of these delicate layers is a quick, complete absorbent in itself.

Because it is so absorbent and because it absorbs scientifically (not just in one concentrated area but all over) Kotex naturally stays soft. It is guaranteed to stay soft longer than any other sanitary pad.

13,000,000 pads to hospitals alone

To give you an idea of the great weight of hospital approval in back of this first of all sanitary pads, the hospitals of America bought 13,000,000 Kotex pads during the first nine months of this year. Then added to this number, they bought 2,500,000 pounds of Kotex absorbent—which is enough to make 80,000,000 more pads. Hospitals need the best. So do you. Safety, security, good health demand it. Why should you be content with anything else when you can buy Kotex everywhere—at all drug, dry goods and department stores?

You ask for it by name. Simply specify: Kotex.

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.

3—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.

4—Disposable, instantly, completely.

Regular Kotex—4½c for 12 Kotex Super-Size—6½c for 12

Woodcock Will Resume Survey

Colonel Amos W. W. Woodcock Will Continue Survey Of Government
Dry MachineHAS COVERED MUCH
TERRITORY LATELYBy ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(International News Service)WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—With stops planned in Indiana and Illinois, prohibition director Amos W. W.
Woodcock is entering into the final phases of his nation-wide survey of the government's dry machine.By the end of the week Woodcock expected to invade the Vineyard country of the far west, where interest has been centered recently because of official government reports showing that a tremendous volume of grapes go into wine in the United States annually.Woodcock seeks first hand information as to Pacific coast conditions.
He does not intend, however, to interfere with the legitimate distribution of the grape crop, in fact,
Woodcock recently indicated there was nothing the federal government could do about home wine making.Before leaving Washington Woodcock said he planned to spend most of his time "in the field." He indicated that he anticipated much better results in enforcement of the law from close contact with the field forces. With the exception of weekend visits to Washington the director has been carrying on his national inspection trip virtually since he took office.In nearly every state and city so far visited Woodcock has found excellent local cooperation with the federal authorities. Even in New York, where there is no state enforcement law, and in Chicago, reputed center for the illicit liquor industry in the mid-west."The federal prohibition machine is functioning effectively and smoothly," Woodcock said. "I do not attempt to say, however, how much liquor is being consumed, but progress is being made. Several big rings have been broken up recently and I believe the government's policy of going after the commercial violator is sound and is getting results."

Ghost Party

Mrs. Daisy Broadbeck and Mrs. Jennie Bryan delightfully entertained the members of the Queen Esther Class of the Third United Presbyterian church at a ghost party on Monday evening in the home of the former, Harrison avenue.

As the "ghosts" entered the portals, they were directed to the basement by Mrs. Broadbeck and here they found the rooms effectively decorated in keeping with the party, ghosts, skeletons, caskets, smoldering fires and everything of a "spooky" nature being used.

Games and contests of various kinds then were enjoyed by the guests prizes going to Madeline Josephine Thompson, Lucille Russell, and Anna Fishburn; pleasing piano duets were offered by Mrs. Josephine Thompson and Tyrus Hemminger. Another feature of the entertainment was a weird ghost story graphically portrayed by Mildred Houk.

Following the fun of the evening the ghosts all trooped to the dining room where the table was cleverly set to carry out the nature of the party and delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

November 3 will mark the date of the next meeting, which will be with Alida Wasson, Adams street, with Susan Wallace as joint hostess.

Smith won the doughnut contest and Mrs. I. White the bean bag contest. Mrs. C. Kenehan won a prize for guessing the identity of the most persons masked and Rev. Work Progresses
At New Church

Work On Roof Has Been Started; Other News Of
Seventh Ward

Fine progress in the building of the new St. Lucia church and the remodeling of the manse continues. Work has now been started on the roof. At the present the wooden form of the roof is being built. With the structure under roof the interior work of the church and manse can be done when it is regular winter weather.

During the past few weeks the brick walls of the structure have been growing higher and higher. Now they are beginning work on the roof. Recently the concrete was poured for the steps leading up to the entrance of the auditorium.

The church building and manse will be one structure when completed as they are joined together. The old manse is being enlarged and faced with brick the same material as the church is being built. Fine progress has been made since work on the church was started. It is hoped the church will be completed by the first of the year. Thirty thousand dollars is the sum being expended on the new church and the re-modeling of the manse.

Engineers Have
Meeting Monday

Industrial Transportation Is Theme For Evening's
Discussion

With a larger attendance than any of the meetings held thus far, the New Castle Engineering Society met in the P-O Building Monday evening with Edward Davenport in charge as chairman of the evening.

Carl Mueller, district manager of the Yale and Towne Company was the speaker of the evening and spoke on "Industrial Transportation." Accompanying his talk was a set of slides showing the many types of electric truck used in handling materials, and following this showed three reels of motion pictures showing the use of trucks on actual jobs.

At the close of his address a number of the men present asked questions concerning the use of the trucks in relationship to their own plant work.

Alfred W. Chilton, Secretary of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce spoke on the progress of the proposed canalization of the Shenango and Beaver Rivers. Later he spoke on the industrial extension classes of Penn State which will be started here for men in industry.

This he said might possibly lead to the establishment of a resident college in New Castle as has been done in other cities. A lunch was the closing item of business. Harry Gravenstreter, chairman of the entertainment committee stated that a number of interesting programs were in the offing and urged the engineers to bring others with them at the next meeting.

Started but a few months ago the Engineering Society has increased in membership each meeting. It is composed of men of the engineering profession in New Castle and is for the purpose of increasing socialability and an exchange of views.

Resolutions approving the Hudson and Brookhart motion picture production bills now pending in Congress also were passed.

Democratic Candidates To Re-unite In Erie To Con-tinues Tour

(International News Service)
BRADFORD, Pa., Oct. 21.—John M. Hemphill, democratic-liberal candidate for governors, and other democratic candidates were re-united in Erie today and continue their tour of the northern tier of counties in an effort to carry northern Pennsylvania to the democratic standard.

Yesterday, handicapped by the absence of Hemphill as head of the ticket, the party split into two sections and toured through Bradford, Tioga, Potter, McKean, Cameron and Elk counties. Hemphill was confined to the West Chester home with an attack of grippe.

Sedwick Kistler, democratic candidate for the senate, and Guy K. Bard, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, headed the party into Cameron and Elk counties. The feature meeting being held at Wellsboro home of William B. Wilson, former secretary of labor in the Wilson cabinet who has bolted to the Gifford Pinchot following.

Speeches Are Read
George Douglas, candidate for Judge of Superior Court, and Mrs.

Lucy D. Winston, candidate for secretary of internal affairs, formed the second party which toured the remaining counties.

Prepared speeches of Hemphill, charging Pinchot with being a bureaucrat and with breaking faith with the voters after the election of 1922, were read by party candidates at all the meetings.

County chairman in every county visited by the democratic van reported growing enthusiasm for the Hemphill cause. Walter B. Sherwood, Tioga county chairman, declared that the bolting of William B. Wilson would have little effect on the Hemphill vote in the county. He predicted the democrats would considerably lessen the normal 15 to 1 majority of the republican party in Tioga county.

Some Motorists Are "Early Birds" In Securing Tags

HARRISBURG, Oct. 21.—Early birds have already increased incoming mail for the Bureau of Vehicles with their applications for 1931 licenses. Renewal cards were mailed every car owner Oct. 14. The first signed application with check was received from D. M. Facker of Beechbrook, Clinton county, who presented it at office-delivery windows.

Over two months remain in which owners may make application. Next year's tags are valid on and after December 15. Owners who expect to purchase new machines prior to December 31 need not withhold their applications for that reason, inasmuch as transfer of plates to the new car can be made without charge.

The Bureau of Motor Vehicles last week mailed approximately 1,750,000 renewal cards, and the postage for that mailing totaled $31,185.

Of the 1,750,000 sets of tags represented by this number of applications 150,000 are 12 by 10 inches in size, and the balance 12 by 12. The steel required to manufacture this number of tags would build a 18-foot roof over the 19-mile thoroughfare connecting Harrisburg and Carlisle.

Plates for next year are already being mailed to applicants. Owners who did not receive renewal cards have only themselves to blame, according to bureau attaches. If they live today at the address at which they received this year's plates they got renewal cards. If they moved and did not do so notify the bureau they got no card, nor will they get one until they make proper notification.

Police Work To Be Included

Of Boy Scouts

SEEK FRIENDSHIP OF CITY'S CHILDREN

(International News Service)
LONG BEACH, Calif., Oct. 21.—Foster friendship between children and policemen is the chief ambition for the coming year of Chief of Police James S. Yancy, newly elected president of the California Peace Officer's Association.

"One of the first things we shall do is to apply to the international head of the Boy Scout movement to include police work in their list of studies for which Boy Scout merit badges are awarded," Yancy declared.

"If we can foster the grounding of those boys in police work, and instill in them and in other youngsters respect for policemen, we will have achieved much."

"We plan to assign officers as contact men with children, to gain their friendship."

Other crime prevention measures Yancy announced as important parts of his program were the installation of state-wide teletype systems to transmit police bulletins and the securing of better cooperation with air lines, since modern criminals often rely on air transportation for their escape.

Yancy also advocates compulsory target practice for policemen.

"Many police today are actually menaces to the public when they start to fire their guns," the new police head declared. "One department went on the target range and out of 104 men firing, 15 men actually failed to touch the target in 10 shots."

Couple Wed 18 Years Give Selves To Church

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 21.—Married eighteen years, Alfredo Oswald and Beatrice Oswald, have sold all their possessions and separated—never again to live together under the same roof, although their love for each other has never waned.

Oswald, internationally known as a pianist and a teacher at the Peabody Conservatory of Music, has entered the monastery of St. Isaac Jogues, Society of Jesus, at Wernersville, Pa.

Mrs. Oswald has entered the Carmelite Convent here.

They have no children.

He said he and his wife have been giving their time and money to the Catholic Church for years and have decided "the only thing left to give is ourselves."

They said their decision to spend the remainder of their lives in the service of the church was not made hastily but after years of serious thought. They remarked their close friends "would understand."

Red Workers To Help Pay Building Costs

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, Oct. 21.—Before the end of this month every one of about ten million Soviet employes in factories, mills, mines and offices is expected to work one day without pay for the government. The proceeds—about thirty million rubles (nominally $15,000,000)—will go into the national industrialization fund for construction of new plants and training schools for skilled workers.

Managers of factories and offices are expected to deduct automatically a day's wages from every employee's pay envelope and turn it over to the administrators of the fund in the Supreme Economic Council. The contribution will be made semi-annually and is called the "Subbotnik of Industrialization."

Seeks To Promote Friendly Relations

(International News Service)
VIENNA, Oct. 21.—Mr. Ralph Beasly Strassburger, president of the American Huguenot's Association, who is now travelling in Europe, has announced a foundation providing for a yearly prize of $1,000 Dollars to be awarded to any journalist who during the current year has done most to promote friendly relations between Australia, Germany and the U. S.

The prize is to be awarded by a committee composed of Professor Albert Einstein, Thomas Mann, Jacob Wasserman, Stephen Zweig, Count Arco and Dr. Rudolph Kayser.

Strassburger explains in his announcement, that he was impelled to create this foundation by certain tendencies to ascribe the economic distress of European countries to the foreign policy of the United States. The foundation is intended to help clarify misunderstanding and increase the friendly interest between the German speaking countries of Europe and the U. S. A.

Prof. James K. Pollock Discusses German Election

Prof. James K. Pollock, native of this city, and today, as assistant professor of Political Science of the University of Michigan, acknowledged to be one of the leading and best informed men in this country on the subject of political conditions of the world and in particular of Germany, on last Saturday delivered an interesting address on "Germany After the Elections" over the radio and as a part of a program broadcasted by the University of Michigan.

The address shows an intimate knowledge of actual German conditions, gained while in Germany during and following the recent election in which the National Socialists headed by Adolf Hitler and known as the Fascists of Germany.

Prof. Pollock's address contained the following brief excerpts:—"As a result of the election Germany must now get along with a Reichstag one-third of which is composed of the National Socialists and Communists. These are the only two parties which gained in the election all parties that supported the cabinet of Chancellor Brüning were returned to Parliament with reduced numbers."

"The most outstanding feature of the recent German Election was not the gain made by the Communists, but rather the unprecedented gain made by the National Socialists. One cannot but be amused at their program. They desire what they call "The Third Reich" where everything will be lovely. There will be no capitalists, no trusts, no Jews, no Negroes, but there will be large armies and Germany will revoke all its treaties which are irksome.

"It is very unlikely that any violent revolution will occur. The German people are not turbulent—they are very orderly and if I understand them, they do not desire disturbance."

"In a word, let me say that although I am uneasy about the present German situation, I am not alarmed."

And here are many charming FROCKS of velvet!

There are two types of velvet frocks that have the whole fashion world enthusiastic, and Strouss-Hirshberg's features both in this group. There's the velvet frock with the cowl neckline, which phrases sophistication with every subtle line and occasionally in allover embroidery.

Then there's the "ingenue" frock, with a delicately flushed chiffon or lace collar and deep cuffs, accentuating the richness of the fabric. Black, brown and green are favorite shades in either type, and sizes 14 to 44 are obtainable . . . at $29.50 and $39.50

Decidedly!—Black coats are smart

—with black or contrasting fur

Maybe it's the richness of the fabrics . . . imperata, kashmirita, and velour du Nord. Maybe it's the luxury of the Persian lamb, fitch, badger and Hudson seal trimmings. But assuredly it's something that makes these black coats favorites with women and girls who know fashion. They have a grace that's definable in new lines and the versatility that makes them appropriate either as town or formal coats . . . in sizes 14 to 48, at $98.50 to $125

Republican Rally

Pinchot Charges Hemphill With Misquoting Him In Many Statements

(International News Service)
CHARLEROI, Pa., Oct. 21.—Gifford Pinchot's last swing through Western Pennsylvania in quest of November ballots was well under way today following a Republican rally here last night in which Pinchot attacked John M. Hemphill, Democratic-Liberal gubernatorial nominee, for allegedly misquoting the "Tall Forester."

Pinchot's address followed closely upon a declaration by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, senatorial nominee and head of the ticket, that President Hoover has steadfastly maintained his neutrality throughout the bitter campaign in Pennsylvania.

Speaking at Uniontown, Secretary Davis called upon the Fayette county voters to return Republican candidates to congress in the fall. In stressing the neutrality of the President, the cabinet officer said:

"President Hoover cannot endorse any candidate for office. It is not the province of a President to take sides in a political fight and campaign for either side. President Hoover needs the support of all those men who endorse his policies, but we must give it to him ourselves."

In his Charleroi speech, Pinchot declared that Hemphill had erroneously attributed to him a statement that twenty thousand miles of highway could be built at an expenditure of fifty million dollars. Pinchot avoided a fat denial of ever making such a claim.

How To Caricature

Creator Of "High Pressure Pete" Tells Of Important Phase Of Cartooning

(This is the ninth lesson in the national cartoon contest of Central Press.)

By GEORGE (SWAN) SWANSON
Creator of "High Pressure Pete"

Cartooning is an important phase of cartooning and the artist who is able to produce with a few strokes of his pen a face instantly identified by the reader, is well on the road to becoming a good cartoonist. The best caricature practice is the drawing of men of various nationalities. It really is easy, and requires only practice. One must, however, practice constantly. But do not make the characteristics hideous. There are beauty and character in faces of each nationality.

Persons of other nationalities caricature our own characteristics good humoredly—as we caricature theirs. Above, I have drawn caricatures of well-known nationalities. Exaggeration is the keynote—exaggeration without offense.

The average Indian has a large Roman nose and straight, black hair. In drawing a cartoon of an Indian, therefore, you exaggerate these two features and the result is a figure easily recognized by everyone as an Indian.

In the Chinese the features to be exaggerated are the slanting eyes and prominent teeth. In the Mexican, the bristling mustache and dark complexion. And so on.

INITIATION OF NEW MEMBERS TO BUSINESS CLUB

Eleven Members Taken Into B. P. W. Club At Service Held Monday Evening

Eleven new members were taken into the New Castle Business and Professional Women's Club at an impressive and sprightly service of initiation Monday evening in the Green Room of the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Nancy Bechtol, president of the club, gave the welcoming address to the new members. She explained the purpose of the club as an international body and as a local organization. New members are: Misses Clara Emery, Geraldine Fry, Elizabeth Mendenhall, Mrs. E. W. Guy, Mrs. Louise Isaacs, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Hazel Southworth, Misses Alice B. Joyce, Helen V. Meyer, Margaret Newman and Mary J. Scherger.

Mrs. W. J. Caldwell was introduced by Miss Edith Dunlap and offered a vocal solo "The Green Key". The song was written by Carrie Jacobs Bond for the Business and Professional Women.

A feature of the evening was the talk by Rev. Margaret Joshua, a speaker of unusual and most convincing ability, won a place in the hearts of the crowd of club members. She told of the great need for fellowship in the home, in order to avoid the splits that so often come. She told of the great need for fellowship in the life of the community.

Rev. Joshua explained the dire need of fellowship in the world of industry. She said that the day is near if not already here when the spirit of fellowship will prevail in the camps of capital and labor and that disputes and strikes will be steeled before they occur.

Also a great importance is fellowship in world relationship. The Kellogg pact was the big step toward that end, in the speakers opinion.

And lastly, Rev. Joshua told of fellowship in religion—a time when there will be no barrier between the different beliefs.

After the Collect was repeated by the members, President Bechtol introduced A. W. Chilton of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Chilton explained the progress of the Community Chest drive, since the beginning three weeks ago. He said that $59,500 had been raised and that he hoped that the goal might be reached, and asked the B. P. W. members to take $50 cards and call on a list of people that have not yet contributed.

Here's News; Farmer Advertisers On Sign Hunters Are Wanted

This may be the time of the year when farmers in Lawrence county go to town for "No Hunting Allowed" signs, so a story about an Orionville, Minn., farmer who went for a sign will be timely and interesting to local farmers.

A printer here, however, was surprised when Martin Schoen, owner of three farms, came in this week and asked for three hunting signs to be made up. The printer said he had them already on hand. Schoen told him his already made up ones wouldn't do and asked for three to read "You May Hunt on This Farm."

Forest Seedlings Are Prepared For Fall Consignment

HARRISBURG, Oct. 21.—Plans have been completed for fall shipments of trees from the State Forest nurseries, according to a statement today by Charles R. Meek, chief of the Bureau of Forest Extension in the State Department of Forests and Waters.

The experience of the department has shown that the best results in tree planting for the State at large are secured in the spring, and for that reason fall shipments of trees are not large. Shipments beginning this week will comprise about 100,000 trees two and three years of age. Last spring the department distributed more than 8,000,000 trees for private planting and planted 1,120,000 in the State-owned forests.

SAYS YOUNG PLAN MUST BE SCALED DOWN

(International News Service)
DENVER, Oct. 21.—Germany will have to scale down the Young plan, Dr. C. H. Becker, professor of oriental history at the University of Berlin and former minister of education and sociology in the Hindenburg government, said while in Denver recently. Dr. Becker brought first hand information on the German situation to Denver while visiting his son, Walter Becker, of this city.

"Without such relief the unrest of her unemployed may lead to a change of government and a repudiation of all reparations," Dr. Becker said. "It should be remembered that Germany has already paid vast sums in gold and in goods as penalties for war."

Dr. Becker left Germany before the recent elections but the result was not surprising to him, being a deep student of social and economic conditions. "I expected a large increase in the Communist and Fascist votes," he said, "but hardly to the extent developed in the elections. The reason we have 15 parties in the Reichstag is simple. When we framed our new constitution we sought to give representation to the minority voters and so made it possible for anyone securing 60,000 votes to take his seat in Parliament."

"You Anglo-Saxons were more practical for your governments are based on majority rules. Our system is chaotic, although we planned to be completely democratic and entirely fair."

German Socialists are Marxian in name only and are not so radical as Socialists in other countries, according to Dr. Becker.

"There is little danger of Germany going Communist," he said, "because our people are too conservative. The Centrist or Catholic party plays close to the Socialist party which proves that the latter will then be available for reforesting idle acres. The species found most popular for this work are red pine, pitch pine, Scotch pine, Japanese larch, and Norway spruce. The planting of white pine is encouraged where curran and gooseberries have been eradicated so that there is no danger of white pine blister rust infection.

Application for trees to be planted next spring will be received up until December 15. One application for 50,000 seedlings has already been received and the department has on file applications covering more than one and a half million trees. Trees now available include 3,000,000 red pine, 2,300,000 white pine, 1,000,000 Norway spruce, 800,000 pitch pine, 500,000 Scotch pine, 300,000 Japanese larch, and smaller numbers of other species such as black locust and white ash. The entire supply of transplant stock has already been allotted.

is conservative. In other parts of the world the Catholic element is at the extreme end against the Socialists. "An extremist like Hitler is not liable to head our government," Dr. Becker declared. "Hitler is a man who lives up to the old theory that unless you go too far you do not go far enough."

Dr. Becker is on a lecture tour, speaking on national and international problems. He stopped over in Denver on his way from California to Kansas City.

Taxi Driver Finds $5,000; Returns It

(International News Service)
LONDON, Oct. 21.—At least some taxicab drivers in some parts of the world are honest. Here's one.

Syd Schenker, honker of one of the motor relics that crawl around London, was prowling for a fare around Victoria station, railway center for the Continental trains, when by force of habit he opened the cab door to see if the last fare had left anything behind.

On the seat was a large envelope. Schenker thought, "Oh, well, another poor fool has lost something," and slowly drove over to the curb. Ambling out of his seat, he took out a cigarette and after going through the maneuvers of lighting it, finally opened the door of the cab and, taking the envelope, looked inside it.

There lay $5,000 in cash. Just as if he had found an old lady's umbrella or somebody's worn-out gloves, he got back into his seat and drove to the nearest police station, where he handed in the money and drove off again.

Later, when the man who lost the money called police headquarters to report the loss, he was told it was waiting for him.

Says Medical Fads Are Greatest Curse

(International News Service)
COLORADO SPRINGS, Oct. 21.—Dr. Hubert Work, former secretary of the interior declared that medical fads were the greatest curse of modern civilization, in an address delivered before a conference of superintendents and principals of schools for the deaf.

"Three-fourths of all sick people would recover without doctors or drugs," he said. "This makes it possible for any cult or the veriest charlatan to claim cures for his methods, quite a regardless of merit. The natural tendency of health, particularly of self-limiting diseases, lays the foundation for the rise of countless fads, fancies, fallacies and untenable claims in medicine."

The urge for the human mind for something new, with its belief in advertisements, with its susceptibility to the influence of repetition, Dr. Work pointed out, makes possible the work of the paid testimonial writer, whose recommendations run largely to patent medicines containing alcohol.

"Of the money spent in sickness, less than 30 per cent goes to doctors," Dr. Work continued. "Patent medicines have the heaviest toll. Hospitals and nurses collect the balance."

He then told officials of deaf schools that competent medical services were always available for their institutions, and urged them to avail themselves of such services when necessary.

Poor Beer Drinking Summer In Paris

(International News Service)
PARIS, Oct. 21.—This has been an extremely poor beer-drinking summer, as any French cafe-keeper will report. The weather, of course, is the main cause, for nothing but a good hot day will send the Frenchman to the cafe calling for one bock after another. When it is moderately cool, he much prefers his little glass of white wine and Vichy, a coffee with rum or even a Vermouth with water.

Last summer more than double this quantity of beer was drunk in Paris than during the one just passed, and even at one moment there was danger of a beer famine.

American Duchess Air Enthusiast

(International News Service)
PARIS, Oct. 21.—The Duchess de Talleyrand, the former pretty Anna Gould, will probably be the first American air woman to dash across French skies. Only recently she made an airplane visit to her brother, Frank J. Gould, at Juan les Pins, flying the distance in four hours, dining there and returning the next morning. The Duchess was so delighted with the venture that she immediately declared she intended to do all of her traveling by air in the future and for this purpose she would very soon make an important purchase. She intends to have her seat next to the pilot and from time to time will take a hand at the "stick."

DISTRICT OFFICER SPEAKS TO LIONS

Deputy Governor From Greenville Presents Year's Plans To Lions

District Deputy Governor James C. Brackin, of Greenville, personal representative of District Governor Daniel Kramer of the Pennsylvania district, Lions International, today laid before the New Castle club the state-wide aims and objectives of clubs for 1930-31.

The district deputy is paying visits to all Lions' clubs in the northwestern part of the state, the territory over which he exerts jurisdiction. His appearance at the meeting today marked the first time he has called here in his official capacity. With Lion Brackin was D. W. Clark, another prominent member of Mr. Brackin's Greenville Club. "Champ" as he's known throughout the district, addressed the club after the year's plans had been presented.

Three different points were stressed by deputy governor, extension work attendance and what Lions know as "no-drop" membership work. Before closing his remarks, Mr. Brackin took time to compliment the club on its splendid efforts, declaring that headquarters considered it one of the best in the state.

A guest of the club at the luncheon-meeting was J. Clinton Parker, Pittsburgh businessman.

Auto In Crash Hits And Damages Porch Of Home

Considerable Damage Is Reported In Automobile Accidents On Streets

The front porch of the home of Attorney Homer C. Drake, corner Court and Pine streets, was damaged to a considerable extent this morning when the car of Miss Helen Hinkson, 209 North Mercer street, a school teacher, enroute to her work, which had been struck by the truck of the Italo Produce company driven by Mike Daino, 602 Pearson street, and forced up over the curb and sidewalk, crashed into it.

The Italo Produce company truck was enroute north on Pine street, as Miss Hinkson was enroute east on Court street.

According to Mike Daino, driver of the truck, he noticed Miss Hinkson's car, as he started across Court street in second gear after making the required safety stop.

He cut his machine to the right and in on Court street, going east, in an effort to avoid the other car, while Miss Hinkson went to the left.

According to Daino, his machine only slightly touched the other car, which went on up over the curb, across the sidewalk and into the property of Attorney Drake and smashed into the porch and then rebounded back a few feet. The Hinkson machine was badly damaged, as was the porch.

The main question involved seems to be whether or not the truck made the required safety stop. Miss Hinkson has yet to make her report of the accident.

W. M. Quigley of 1027 Court street, reported Monday that he was enroute west on Court street and crossing Ray street, as a car bearing Pennsylvania license 7P161 going north on Ray street, failed to observe the stop sign and the machines came together, both being damaged. Robert Nolan was the owner and driver of the car enroute north on Ray street.

John Korzek of 1209 Randolph street, reported today that he was enroute west on East Washington street at Arlington avenue, when his machine collided with another car. Some damage was done to both machines.

Mrs. E. O. Alexander of R. D. No. 7 reported Monday that she was driving the machine of H. L. Wood of Warren, O., west on East Washington street near Marshall avenue, when her machine hit and slightly damaged the car of L. B. Carson of Youngstown, which was parked there, as she was pulling out from her parking place.

Japanese Prince's Rights Contested

Alien Land Law May Be Invoked To Gain Possession Of Rich Land

(International News Service)
SANTA ROSA, Cal., Oct. 21.—Right of Kanaye Nagasawa, widely known Japanese prince, to ownership of two-thirds of the rich Fountain Grove ranch, where he has lived for the past 57 years, is under attack in superior court here.

The attack is in the form of a quiet title suit, brought by Robert Hart, of San Diego, against Nagasawa, but behind the legal phraseology of the complaint, it was asserted by attorneys and court witnesses, three laws which are expected to develop into a sensational court battle involving the right of the Japanese owner to possession of the bigger part of the famous ranch.

Although the complaint makes no charges or insinuations, merely asserting that Hart is entitled to possession of the two-thirds interest, it was intimated that the alien land law would be invoked by the plaintiff and that charges of misrepresentation in effecting transfer of the property from Hart and his wife, who were at one time part owners, to Nagasawa might be expected.

Hart and his wife, the latter now dead, are said to have transferred the two-thirds interest to Nagasawa by quit-claim deed in 1919, making him the sole owner. The interest was deemed worth $200,000 at that time.

(International News Service)
WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 21.—Lammot Du Pont, president of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours Company, today refused to join Irene and Pierre DuPont, other high officials of the firm, in their bolt of the Republican party to support Thomas F. Bayard, Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator who is campaigning on a wet platform.

Lammot wrote Senator Daniel O. Hastings, Republican nominee and avowed dry, that he disagreed with him on his attitude on the prohibition question but would support him nevertheless.

"I believe that the 18th amendment and the laws that support it are wrong in principle and have shown themselves unsatisfactory in procedure during the ten years trial," DuPont wrote.

"I have faith, however, that the Republican party will in time come to realize it," he said.

Hails McLaughry System As One Of Grid's Best

Eastern Statistician, Claims
McLaughry Style Of Play Is Baffling
One

LAUDS GREAT TEAM OF WESTMINSTER GRAD

DeOrmond (Tuss) McLaughry, former Westminster grad star and son of Judge and Mrs. J. A. McLaughry of Mercer, is hailed as one of the greatest football tacticians in big time collegiate football by Park H. Davis of Easton, Pa., one of the outstanding football statisticians of the country.

Davis, after watching Brown defeat Princeton, wrote a special article for the Providence R. I. Journal, pointing out the intricacies of the Brown style of play evolved by McLaughry.

In part the article follows: "Brown disclosed against Princeton an extraordinary football team from the standpoint of personnel. The players were exceptionally skilled in the technique of play. They were amazingly fast and sturdily strong. Equally extraordinary, however, was the system of formations and tactics which they executed. This was so novel and so effective that it stamps D. O. McLaughry, its inventor and coach of Brown, as one of the great football tacticians of all time. This system is destined to endure for years to come as the 'McLaughry system' to take its place in the science of the sport.

Brown's offensive system is based upon three different backfield formations, arrayed behind an unbalanced line. The unbalanced line, it will be recalled, is the alignment of forwards in which two men are arrayed on one side of the snapper, back and four men are arrayed on the opposite side, thus giving a "short" or "weak" side and a "long" or "strong" side. These "long" and "short" sides were formed some times to right and at other times to the left, according to the objective in Princeton's line.

At the beginning of the game, Francis Gull, Brown's quarterback and field general, ordered into action a tandem formation, known years ago as "back oblique" because the four backs form in a line obliquely to the rush line, with the front man in the line standing one yard behind the second inside man in the line of forwards, thus bringing the fourth man in the line of backs about four yards behind the center. This oblique line of backs at times was arrayed on the "long" side of the line of forwards and at other times it was arrayed on the "short" side.

Tuss McLaughry added a variation to this line which now, and then flashed into view, by having the first man in the line of backs step backward a pace, thus bringing him even with the second man and on his outside, thus temporarily breaking the oblique line of the four backs."

test Monday Afternoon

KOMINIC, HOWLEY SCORE FOR TEAMS

Ben Franklin's gold and blue clad warriors of the gridiron fought out the city junior high football supremacy with Washington's determined team, Monday afternoon, and after four doubtful quarters of play sealed the championship in their name with a 13-7 score. The game was played across the Washington athletic field and witnessed by several hundred spectators.

Franklin's first step to victory came but a few minutes after the opening of the game, after a costly Washington fumble had given them possession of the ball in the Washington danger zone. On a line plunge Kominic, crashing fullback, carried the ball across for Franklin's first score. They failed at the extra point kick, so the score stood 6 to 0.

Shortly after the teams lined up again and Franklin kicked off to Washington than Washington's fleet-footed end, Howley, dashed over the Franklin goal to tie the score. He made it after receiving a 12-yard pass from Reiber, tricky quarterback. Ramsey plunged the ball across to place Washington ahead 7-6.

But Washington's lead continued not for long. The first quarter ended and the second begun, with Washington holding the ball. It was near midfield and the fourth down and Washington's quarter chose to punt. A punt it was, the ball rolling back of the Franklin goal line. Here Kominic of Franklin scooped up the ball and to Washington's surprise shook off opposing tacklers to run the 100-yard distance for Franklin's second touchdown. Kominic also made the extra point good by dashing through the line. The score then was: Franklin 13, Washington 7.

The entire second half went scoreless and seldom did either team threaten to score again. In the closing minutes Washington attempted to beat the final whistle but the telling line crashing and passing attack only ended in vain.

Statement Makes Game Correction

The writer wishes to make a correction concerning the football game last Friday night in which New Castle defeated Woodward of Toledo. In describing the kickoff play which paved the way for New Castle's first touchdown, it was stated that McAuley's kick was good for about nine yards and that a New Castle man fell on the ball, giving New Castle the ball.

The writer stated that had the kick been over 10 yards the ball would have been in possession of Woodward. The rule states that on the kickoff, which must be 10 yards or more, whichever team secures the ball, that team has possession of the ball. Since New Castle secured the ball on Woodward's 49-yard line the ball belonged to New Castle.

Keen Interest In Grid Card For Saturday

Notre Dame-Pitt And Army-Yale Battle Top Field In National Interest

BIG TEAMS WILL RECEIVE TESTS

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Topped by Yale vs Army and Notre Dame against Pittsburgh, this coming Saturday's football card is stuffed with duels important not only in determining sectional and national title contenders but outstanding as crowd attractors.

At least 75,000 fans are expected to watch Albie Booth and the Cadets fight it out in Yale bowl and that number or more will gather in Yankee stadium to see New York City's two unbeaten elevens, Fordham and New York University, renew their keen rivalry.

A huge advance sale has been made for the Notre Dame-Pittsburgh clash in Pittsburgh, both teams are unbeaten and some fans, figuring Notre Dame can't go on winning forever, want to be right there at the promised killing, no matter how remote the prospects.

Princeton-Navy Palmer stadium should be filled as the Tigers mangle against Navy. Princeton followers are hoping to see the orange and black in victory at least once this season and the Navy looks like something the doctor prescribed, having bowed to Notre Dame and Duke, the Duke victory being the principal ingredient of the prescription that Princeton rather likes at Cambridge comes a powerful Dartmouth team to engage Harvard, smarting from Army's triumph last week.

Michigan and Illinois will pack them in at Ann Arbor. They like winning teams at Michigan and Michigan sees a fine opportunity this Saturday to avenge last year's defeat by Bob Zuppke's outfit.

In California at Stanford's tree-banked stadium in Palo Alto, the Cardinals play University of Southern California. Practically the year-round civil war rages between these two institutions. The Trojans won in 1929 and Pop Warner's eleven is keen to paint a new set of scenery.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Max Rosenbloom was boxing eight and ten rounds at top speed against the lightest opposition for his bout with Abie Bain which takes place in Madison, Square Garden tomorrow night. The light heavyweight champion weighed 183—so he said. Close friends hinted it was much nearer 190.

Since winning the title from Jimmy Slattery on June 25, Rosenbloom has had but three fights.

Gridiron Gossip

There are any number of good football games heading the list for this week, but right here in West-Pennsylvania, the Pitt-Notre Dame clash has all the attention. The Irish are going to invade the Pitt Stadium bent on taking the measure of the fierce Panthers. A game of this kind has long been sought by the Pitt management, and they are going to present the drama Saturday before perhaps 70,000 people.

While the Pitt team is going for Notre Dame in a big way, the Carnegie Tech eleven, now also rans, having played Notre Dame last week, will be up in Cleveland for a game with the Western Reserve boys. The Clevelanders didn't look so hot against Pitt, and the Techies should have easy sailing. Maybe not the Lake City boys may have improved since Pitt beat them 52 to 0.

Wetminter will have the Slippery Rock Teachers College team as their opponents this week at New Wilmington. The Beede coached machine is in good condition for the battle, and a Westminster victory is feely predicted. The Titans are looking forward to a tough battle with the Teachers. Slippery Rock suffered defeat 12 to 6 at the hands of St. Francis last week, and will be out to make a good showing against the Westminster team this week. Elmer Meider, the former Schenley, High Pittsburgh boy has been injured again and will likely be out of the lineup for several more weeks.

The Geneva-Grove City battle this Friday night at Reeves Stadium Beaver Falls, will be a classic in itself. The Grovers have one of the best teams in the history of

Titans Point To Home Game With Slippery Rock Saturday

Teachers Have Strong Team; Beede To Change Lineup

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 21.—With four games over, only one of which has been tallied on the right side of the ledger, Coach "Dix" Beede starts intensive drills for the home game Saturday with Kerr Thompson's green and white team from Slippery Rock State Teachers College.

The Teachers under Thompson are rated among the best of the class B colleges in the section, and should be a hard team to defeat even with the advantage of playing on the home field.

Beede plans to make a number of shifts in the lineup. A number of freshmen who looked good in the Grove City game will in all probability replace veterans on the first team. It is certain at least, that the Harper, Zenopole had, will get another chance in the Titans' backfield after his good showing against the Grovers. Ketterer, Rochester frosh, may also get a chance to show his wares.

With Elmer Meider again lost for two or three weeks or perhaps for the balance of the season, Teddy and Cobula will fight it out with Myer and Young for the end positions. Kozicki, Armour, Rehfs, Oddi, Cleland and Dishong will all be tried at tackle during the week to determine which two will start.

For the guard posts, Uram, Fuller, Morrison and Ferrari are available, with Fuller slightly injured but ready to start if needed. Haldy, Harns, Michaels, Boker, Brown, Perrin are all available for the backfield.

Coach Thompson has a large number of veterans at Slippery Rock. Although some of the experienced stars were on the injured list for two weeks, they are available again and will in all probability start against the Titans. Some of the third and fourth-year men on the Teacher squad are: Lesley Wilson, tackle; William Taylor, guard; Stanley Ralston, guard; Paul Morgan, end; Henry Ott, end and captain; Curtis Allen, center; Carl Cataio, fullback; Herman Melman, quarter; and Paul Miles, tackle.

Another large crowd is expected at the third home game of the season for the Titans. Capacity crowds were on hand for the opening game against Edinboro Teachers and the homecoming game with Allegheny the school and will be out to down the Harper coached team. The Crimson goal-line is uncrossed, and they are going to try and keep it that way. The Geneva team has lost but one game, that to Bucknell, and have defeated Waynesburg, St. Vincents, Canisius and Thiel. This is a night game.

Bethany doesn't have anything easy for this Saturday, being called on to face the strong West Virginia Wesleyan team, at Wheeling, West Virginia. The Bisons have not been doing so very well this season, and it may be they will snap out of their coma and take the Wesleyan boys for a ride, at least this is the hope of Coaches Knight and Shoemaker. Bethany dropped to Marshall last week.

Thiel will go down to Latrobe this week for a battle with the St. Vincent's team. The Greenville boys are confident of winning this game, due to their fine showing to date. The Thiel team lost a tough luck battle at Allegheny last Saturday 8 to 0. Geneva just managed to eke out a victory and they held Carnegie Tech and Temple to comparatively low scores. Coach Rawley is not a bit discouraged with the Thiel team and intends to have them winning a few games before the season is brought to a close.

The Duquesne University team has Catholic University team at Forbes Field this Friday night for a game under the flood-lights. The Dukes are all set up by that victory over Howard College and intend to show something in the game with their old rivals Catholic U. Last year the Dukes won the game 18 to 13. The Men of Layden are out to add the Catholic U. team to their 1930 victim list.

Banker Starts Serving Term

Former Cashier Of McKees
Rocks Defunct Bank
Starts Serving
Sentence

PLEADS GUILTY TO TWO CHARGES

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—Stephen Sembrot, of McKees Rocks, former cashier of the now defunct Peoples State Bank of that city, today was to begin serving a sentence of three to six years in the Allegheny County workhouse after conviction on two charges of forgery and one of falsifying a statement to bank examiner.

More than 76 charges involving alleged forgeries for more than $50,000 had originally been brought against Sembrot. It would have taken approximately two months to try all the charges and Sembrot agreed to make a plea of guilty to the three charges on which he was sentenced.

Sembrot pleaded guilty May 19 last but sentence was deferred until yesterday by Judge Harry H. Rowand in criminal court.

Attorney A. E. Eckles, for Sembrot, told the court that the cashier had used the money in stock speculations with full knowledge of at least one officer of the bank. When the market fell, according to Eckles, Sembrot was allowed to take full blame for the ensuing financial disaster.

Charges of forgery covered Sembrot's use of the names of customers of the bank on notes to cover his default.

The McKees Rocks Trust Company took over the Peoples State Bank when its doors were closed following Sembrot's manipulations. Depositors were paid in full. Loss was covered by stockholders of the State Bank.

Cleveland Man Argues Merger Was Big Fraud

Luther Day, Chief Counsel For Plaintiffs Hurls Fraud Charge

(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Oct. 21.—After hurling the charge in the common pleas courtroom here yesterday that the officers of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company and Bethlehem Steel Corporation perpetrated a fraud on the stockholders of the Youngstown concern when they negotiated for the merger of the two groups, Luther Day, Cleveland, chief counsel for the plaintiff in the billion-dollar injunction suit to prevent the merger, took the floor again today to continue his closing argument.

Declaring that the merger deal was "willfully misrepresented" to the stockholders of Sheet & Tube, Day appealed to Judge Jenkins to enjoin the contract for the merger on the grounds that the Bethlehem officials with Pickands, Mather & Company of Cleveland, dominated the negotiations.

Day declared that Eugene B. Grace, president of Bethlehem, and Henry G. Dalton, partner in Pickands, Mather & Company, were the principal figures in the merger negotiations. Because Dalton was a director in Sheet & Tube and Bethlehem as well as in the Pickands, Mather concern, Day charged that he had no right to take part in the negotiations.

Day was interrupted at one time in his argument by Judge Jenkins when the attorney charged the Bethlehem officers with fraud. In answer to the court's question as to his definite purpose, Day replied that the evidence, in his opinion, revealed that the Bethlehem Company had acted as an agent for Sheet & Tube, Bethlehem, therefore, became a party in the fraud, he maintained.

College Drama Theater Party

Westminster Thespians To See
"Elizabeth, The Queen"

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 21.—Members of Westminster College classes in play reading, the Elizabethan drama, and the acted drama as well as members of the Masquers, dramatic fraternity, will hold a theater party Wednesday afternoon in the Nixon Theater, Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Mary C. McConagha and Professor A. T. Cordray, instructors of the classes, have charge of the party which will be a sort of class project.

The Westminster students will see the matinee performance of "Elizabeth, The Queen" by Maxwell Anderson. The play, a Theater Guild production, offers much to the student of staging, costume, and lighting as well as to those whose chief interests are in the acting. For this reason the Westminster thespians will have an opportunity of putting into actual practice in the college Little Theater any practical experience gained at the production.

SPEARS DOES HIS STUFF FOR DARTMOUTH IN 1915

By JACK SORDS
Central Press Sports Cartoonist

Back in 1915 when Eddie Mahan was shining at Harvard, Elmer Oliphant was making football history at West Point and the great Peck at Pittsburgh was demonstrating just how center should be played, Dartmouth uncovered a brilliant guard named Clarence Spears who rushed to fame and a place on the All-American team of that year.

Today "Doc" Spears is still in football. He's in the midst of his first year as coach at Oregon.

Spears has a fine record as coach. Under him the last few seasons Minnesota was a power in the Western conference. His Viking eleven sparked with men coached to greatness by Spears.

Two-All Americans were developed in recent years at Minnesota by Spears. They were Herb Joesting, a great fullback in 1926, and Bruno Nagurski who shone last season in the line as well as the backfield.

Corporation Code Argued By Day In Youngstown Court

Stockholders Had No Right To Vote If They Had Sold
Shares, Day Contends

(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 21.—The Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company stockholders, as of March 22, 1930, to vote at the special stockholders meeting, April 8, if they had sold their stock in the meantime, was disputed by Luther Day, chief counsel for the plaintiffs in the injunction suit against the merger of Sheet and Tube with Bethlehem Steel Corporation, as he continued his closing argument today.

Day contended that it is contrary to the intent of the Ohio Corporation code to permit stockholders of record of a certain date, to vote at a later date, if in the meantime they have sold their holdings.

NOT A MATTER of PRICE BUT OF HONEST VALUE

There are many sound reasons for Oldsmobile's steady advance in public favor. One of these reasons, naturally enough, is moderate price.

But even more important than Oldsmobile's price are all of the good things which that surprisingly low price obtains.

Motorists enjoy Oldsmobile's alert, all-round performance, its restful comfort, its ease of control. They admire the smart style and sturdy construction of its beautiful Fisher body. Most of all, they appreciate the thorough dependability which makes Oldsmobile such a great car for the "long pull."

And finally, motorists in increasing numbers the country over insist that all of these desirable qualities, obtainable in Oldsmobile at such moderate price, constitute one of the truly remarkable automobile values of the day.

If you want to prove these facts to your own satisfaction, just come in and examine Oldsmobile and drive it yourself. Compare this fine car feature for feature with any other automobile at or near its moderate price. Then you'll agree with Oldsmobile owners that satisfaction is not measured in dollars and cents alone... that it is not just a matter of price, but of honest value.

Adventurous Pig Held Captive By Irate Farmer Is Liberated By Humane Society's President

John E. Fee of Union township has a pig.

When the last week was drawing to a close, Fee's animal rebelled against man-made conventions for pigs. He decided to take French leave. Fee's pig is about two years old. But age offered no obstacles. Neither did the red and black spots on its coat.

John Endress has a farm adjacent to the Fee place.

Fee's pig wriggled its way from the warmth of the barn and started out. Of course, Endress' farm offered the first possibilities of sighting to the animal, because the Endress farm was the only other farm the pig had ever laid eyes upon.

But to say that Endress' reception was one of welcome would not be fair to the farmer, who was later to claim through his attorney in an alderman's office that Fee's pig damaged his place; that about $5 would cover that damage.

The pig, described as a boar, whose black and red splashes are a sight was taken into the Endress barn and tied with cow ropes in a box. It is asserted.

Attorney William W. Stevenson, president of the Shenango Valley Humane society, who made out an information against Endress Monday evening, charging cruelty to animals, said that the pig had been tied in such a manner that made it impossible for it to move, or even lie down.

Fee learned of his pig's whereabouts and communicated with the humane president. Stevenson hurried with Fee to the Endress farm. The president, flashlight in hand, entered the barn and found the pig. Speaking about that experience he said today:

"There was that pig in the box. The place was just big enough to hold him tight. He could not move. Cow ropes held him tight."

After argument, Stevenson succeeded in getting the farmer to take the trip to the office of Alderman W. E. Marshall, where an information, charging cruelty to animals, had already been sworn out. Endress' lawyer was called.

A compromise was reached after much talking, when Endress and his lawyer agreed to a proposal of Stevenson that if Endress paid the costs of the information the charge against him would be withdrawn.

The black and red spotted boar pig is back in the Fee barn.

Thus spoke the Prince of Wales to the mechanic at the garage where he kept his smart car on his last visit to the capital, and with the words he slipped a fifty franc note ($200) into the surprised man's hand.

The garage was not far from the hotel where the Prince was staying, and he frequently walked there alone to get his car. The garage attendant had helped him get the car out.

Seek Clothing To Aid Local Poor

Salvation Army Makes Appeal
For Clothing, Underwear, Etc.

Persons who have any old clothing, underwear, shoes or second hand furniture which they care to give away, can aid people in distress by giving it to the Salvation Army. Ensign V. Thomsen today asked for all the old clothes and furniture as it was possible to get as he had many calls for aid.

This is particularly true in men's clothes and underwear. Several urgent calls have come in for cook stoves for families, four of them, some blinds, some chairs, two kitchen tables, some rugs, dressers or chests of drawers, a cupboard and bed clothing.

With the coming of cold weather the Salvation Army is attempting to alleviate conditions among the very poor and to that end Ensign Thomsen has offered the fullest co-operation of his organization to Mayor W. H. Gillespie. The mayor has answered the letter thanking the Army for its offer of co-operation.

The Salvation Army headquarters are on West Washington street and clothing or furniture can be left there any time during the day.

Professionals Sway Stock Market Activity

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—After a firm opening, in which new gains of a point or more were recorded in the speculative favorites, stocks slipped off easily under the impact of a flood of profit taking and short selling. Losses in some of yesterday's fast travelers were extended to 2 to 4 points before the end of the first hour, with all sections of the market participating in the reaction.

There was little if any change in business and industrial reports and the commodity markets were generally steady. The stock market was swayed mostly the activities of the professionals, the most nimble of whom were ready to jump to the selling side of the market in order to convert paper profits into cash.

Westinghouse dropped off 5 points to 107 1/2 in this profit-taking move. United States Steel reacted about 2 points to 147 1/2, while General Electric, Consolidated Gas and other favorites were off 1 to 3 1/2 points. American Can lost 2 1/2 points to 114 1/2, and Eastman Kodak was down 6 at 186. The Rails started the day at higher price levels, but there was not sufficient buying demand to keep the rally in progress.

Dullness and irregularity ruled in the second hour, most of the favorites settling down to lower levels in a reduced volume of trading. Westinghouse was under pressure when the third quarterly statement showed only $112 a share earned, which was 13 cents less than dividend requirements. Anaconda Copper sold at the year's lowest price, at 33 1/2.

B. & O. Forces Here To Benefit

Steady Winter Employment
Expected For Shop
Men By New Car
Work

While no definite word has been received today, Baltimore and Ohio railroad shop officials here announced that in all probability New Castle junction car building forces will share in the new construction program just made public, calling for 1,000 steel box cars and 1,000 heavy service gondola cars.

The car building program is being undertaken, it was said, in anticipation of future requirements and with the desire to provide employment for men whose service would not otherwise be required during the fall and winter.

Terminal Trainmaster J. L. Thomas asserted he knows not what part the local shop will play, but has reason to believe additional work will be created for a large number of regular shop men.

It is estimated that in the erection shops alone all over the road this work will give some 60,000 or 70,000 man-days employment. It represents an expenditure of $4,000,000.

While it is though the work will provide something to do for only B. and O. men, it is known that it will contribute to employment for men engaged in steel and other industries which will indirectly benefit from the large orders needed in the construction of the 2,000 cars.

Officials here said that definite instructions regarding the local work will probably come from Baltimore soon.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Never knew there were so many engineers in New Castle until Monday evening when I saw something like eighty five of them gathered together. Engineers of all flavors and sizes, civil, mechanical, electrical, chemical, or what flavor do you prefer. We're out of strawberry.

When Henry Ford said this is an engineering age, he said something. Nowadays you nearly have to be some kind of an engineer to get a tumble in executive positions in industry for it's the engineering minds of the country that have devised this labor saving machinery.

Every year sees more and more evidence of the engineer. If it keeps up we'll get our breakfast menus from the multiplication table, our laws from trigonometry text books, and before a fellow can get a marriage license he'll have to present a chart showing his tensile strength, his tractive power and the revolutions per minute of his heart.

They're an interesting crew, the engineers. The same kind of chap was responsible for the Assouan dam, the Panama canal, the suspension bridge at Niagara Falls, and all the other pieces of work over the world that draw your admiration for their skill and daring.

Civilization follows the flag, but both of them are preceded by the engineer with his chains and stakes and surveying instruments. The Panama Canal Zone is a fit place to live now because of the engineers, headed by that peer of them all, General Goethals.

And somehow the song of Georgia Tech keeps running through my mind this morning. You remember how it starts "I'm a ramblin' wreck from Georgia Tech." And from there it goes into the qualifications of the engineer and his personal tastes. Not a very polite song, but virile.

Claims Dust Ruins Truck Farm Crops

Case Of C. G. Moore, Executor, Against Lime Company Is On Trial

The case of Charles G. Moore, executor of Sebastian Conti, deceased, against the New Castle Lime and Stone Company is on trial before Judge Hildebrand today. The case is one in which Conti, during his lifetime, owned a farm in Mahoning township, which was used as a truck farm.

The New Castle Lime and Stone Company erected a plant for the crushing of limestone near the Conti farm. It is claimed that dust from the crusher ruined garden truck on the Conti farm, also that fruit, such as grapes and apples, became coated with limestone dust and were rendered unfit for use.

At the death of Conti the farm went to his widow, Maria Conti. Damages in the sum of $2400 are asked.

"Pride goeth before a fall" is a statement applicable to women, high heels and street car steps.

At least it seems true, as 15 women fell last winter after departing from cars and before they reached the curb.

C. C. Coulthard, superintendent of transportation of the Penn-Ohio railway, ascribes the falls to "high heels", or as he says, "spiked heels".

"With winter weather practically here, it may not be inappropriate for street car riders to 'watch their step,'" said Coulthard today.

"Don't board or leave the car until it stops," was one of his warnings.

Coulthard said that some have fallen on account of bundles they carried in their arms.

"They cannot see over the bundles, and therefore cannot 'watch their step,'" he declared.

"If riders will use caution many of the accidents can be eliminated," Coulthard stated.

Defendant Wins Verdict Of Jury

Verdict For $640 For James P. Toler In Suit Brought By Hammonds

In the case of J. K. Hammond against James P. Toler for damages for injuries sustained in an automobile accident, which was tried before Judge Hildebrand in county court the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant and also for damages for Toler and against the plaintiffs for $640.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Moody and Highland avenue. Mrs. Hammond, who was driving out of Moody, going west to Highland, claimed that she had stopped before attempting to cross the street and that her car was struck by the Toler car when she was part way across Highland avenue.

Toler claimed that Mrs. Hammond had come out of Moody at a high rate of speed and that the accident was her fault.

There was considerable conflicting testimony as to the real cause of the collision.

Many Europeans in British Malaya are out of work.

Verdict Rendered For Defendants

In the case of the Fort Pitt Brewing Company against A. Panella and Pasquale Panella, which was on trial before Judge James A. Chambers yesterday, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant. The suit was based on a note for $300, on which it was claimed that part payment had been made. The note was for bottled goods and there was a dispute about credits for empties returned.
